Hoover Predicts Prosperity

INCREASE IN BUSINESS CERTAIN IN 1925

Secretary of Commerce is Optimistic In Annual Report to Congress

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Business prospects for 1923 are indicative of a highly prosperous year, judging from the "signs of the times," as interpreted by Secretary of Commerce Hoover in an excerpt from his annual report to Congress made public today.

Hoover's review of conditions referred chiefly to the fiscal year ending July 1, 1924, but he took occasion to remark that "some moderate decreases in activity during the latter part of the year have been followed by general recoveries."

Among the outstanding features of 1924, according to Hoover, was the advance in agricultural prices, which had "hitherto lagged behind in industry since the slump of 1920."

German Reparations

A second feature, Hoover said, "is the beginning of sound policies in German reparations leading to a hopeful measure of economic recovery in Europe. Third, the complete recovery of our own industry and commerce (aside from agriculture); great stability of prices, high production, full employment, expanding foreign trade and prosperity throughout the business world."

The general level of business activity was decidedly higher than in the so-called "very prosperous year of 1919," according to Hoover. Manufacturing production dropped slightly as compared to 1923, but mineral production rose materially.

Retail Trade Higher

"Notwithstanding far lower prices than in 1919, the value of sales of retail stores was decidedly greater in 1924," Hoover continued. "Where there were lower indexes than in 1919, they may be explained as wholly due to the decline in prices. Based on the calendar year of 1913 as 100, the general average of wholesale prices dropped from 156 in 1923 to 150 in 1924."

Discussing a slight slackening in production at the close of the fiscal year, Hoover said that there was a recovery in September, which for manufacturing production, stood thirteen points higher than in June.

"Of first importance," he said, "the agricultural recovery by September had proceeded to a point where the wholesale price index of farm products was 143 on the 1923 basis, as compared to 149 for the price of all commodities, thus marking the re-establishment of the farmers' buying power at much more nearly the pre-war ratio."

The entire list of bona fide subscriptions will be published January 1, 1925. It will comprise from twelve to fifteen pages of solid names and addresses.

Requests Congress To Increase Navy Funds $30,000,000

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Secretary of the Navy Wilbur today carried to Congress his plea for funds to keep the United States navy at the strength authorized by the Washington armament conference.

He appeared before the House appropriations committee with a request for an appropriation for the fiscal year of 1925-26 of $323,000,000—$30,000,000 more than was allotted to the navy by the bureau of the budget.

This sum will be necessary, Wilbur said, if the American navy is to be maintained at an equal ratio with that of Great Britain.

SEEK CLUES IN MURDER MYSTERY

Police Hunt Reason for Strange Killing of Real Estate Man

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 17.—Albert R. Rosenblum, real estate operator, was found murdered last night under circumstances similar to the sensational killing of Harry I. Katz, wealthy musician and diamond dealer. Rosenblum's body was found in a street in the exclusive Wilshire section not far from the apartment where Katz was killed.

Both Katz and Rosenbaum were killed with a .32 calibre automatic pistol.

Rosenblum was slain after returning from an automobile ride with his wife, Beatrice, according to police, who immediately launched an investigation to determine if Katz and the slain real estate man were business associates or friends.

Victim Not Robbed

Although Rosenblum carried a sum of money, a watch, and wore several diamond rings he had not been robbed.

Police believe Rosenblum was murdered in his automobile, an expensive closed model, and then the body thrown into the street.

Rosenblum's car, covered with blood stains, was found by the police today after several hours' search, abandoned in a street. The cushions of the car and the windows and doors were streaked with blood.

Question Friend

Clarence C. Harbert, said by police to have been an intimate friend of the slain real estate operator, was grilled by detectives in connection with the murder. Harbert, the police said, recently had several mysterious appointments with Rosenblum, who registered on each meeting with Harbert at a fashionable hotel here under the name of John Klaxon.

Mrs. Rosenblum, the murdered man's widow, told police her husband often absented himself from home and said he recently had had some "strange business deals."

TWO DIE IN ROADHOUSE ROBBERY

More Than Fifty Couples Victims of Highwaymen; Prisoners Six Hours

GRANITE CITY, Ill., Nov. 17.—Two men were shot and killed and a third was probably fatally wounded when eight bandits who are believed to have held as prisoners for six hours and robbed more than fifty couples at the Lakeview club, a roadhouse near Mitchell, Ill., Sunday morning, sought to repeat their performance at the Eagle Park club, a resort near this city, early today.

The dead: Melvin Norvell, 26, of Madison, Ill., a guard at the roadhouse, and an unidentified bandit. "Chicken" Ridge, another guard, was seriously wounded.

Gay Dance Halts

The eight bandits entered the roadhouse with guns drawn in the midst of a gay dance. At the sight of the robber gang the orchestra stopped playing. Norvell, who stood near the door, reached for his gun.

The bandit leader covered him and searched him. Then he shot Norvell twice, killing him. Ridge, the other guard, managed to get his gun and blazed away at the bandit, who fell as his companions riddled Ridge.

The present cold snap arrived on the tail end of what was usually warm weather for this time of the year. Yesterday was unofficially to have been the mildest November 16 in twenty years, the temperature being 48 late in the afternoon.

About 7 o'clock last night a gale with rain and snow flurry came out of a clear sky. The mercury began to drop and continued on its downward course, until it reached the record mark this morning.

Eight persons were dead and fifteen others are suffering from accidents or exposure incident to the storm. Six of the deaths were consequences of motor car skiddings on wet streets.

The government carried the case to the supreme court of the United States for a decision, but this appeal was dismissed.

GUN BATTLES RESULT IN MILK WAR

Producers Fight to Keep Service Being Given East Bay Section

OAKLAND, Nov. 17.—A veritable milk war between producers and distributors over the question of prices was raging today throughout the east bay cities of Oakland, Alameda and Berkeley in Alameda county, and was spreading to adjacent counties to the north and east. Trucks carrying milk into Oakland have been fired upon, thousands of gallons of the fluid have been destroyed, and several gun battles and physical encounters have been reported, according to police authorities here. A milk famine looms.

The milk producers, represented by the East Bay Milk Producers' association, are said to be fighting to keep all milk out of Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda until they are guaranteed a price of 29 cents a gallon to the producer. The association claims to control 30,000 gallons of the daily supply of 22,000 gallons of milk in the area affected.

Both Sides Deadlocked

Up to now the producers have been receiving from 17 to 24 cents per gallon for their milk. These prices, however, they declare, are suicidal for their business. Both sides are deadlocked.

Steps have been taken by the producers' association to make milk available for hospitals, schools and to families having babies or invalids.

From all parts of Alameda, Contra Costa, Solano, Yolo and San Joaquin counties came reports that independent truck drivers had been overpowered by armed men in fast automobiles and their milk cargoes dumped on the ground, police officials here declared. Nine arrests have been made in connection with the milk war.

RAIDERS IN CONTROL OF HEAD GATE

Water Worth Thousands of Dollars Going to Waste As Owens Valley Ranchers Seek to Get 'Rights'

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 17.—Governor Friend W. Richardson said today he would not send state troops into Inyo county, where 100 raiders have seized the Los Angeles city aqueduct. The governor issued a statement saying he saw no necessity for calling out the militia.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 17.—Immediate use of California National Guard to disperse 100 residents of Inyo county standing watch over the opened flood gates of the Los Angeles aqueduct, from which water valued at thousands of dollars daily was escaping, was considered today by Governor Friend W. Richardson.

With the hurried appeal of Sheriff C. C. Collins of Inyo county for troops before him, the governor was expected to take action early in the day toward suppression of the latest gesture of Owens valley residents in their quarrel with the city over aqueduct water rights.

Early today the ranchers sent word to Los Angeles that they did not fear state troops and they were confident Governor Richardson would not send militiamen to the valley. They said the governor had stated some time ago he did not think the Owens ranchers had "been treated fairly by Los Angeles."

Fears Bloodshed

Defying the Inyo county sheriff and employes of the Los Angeles water department to interfere, the Owens valley mob opened the aqueduct gates yesterday morning and today were still standing guard over the escaping water.

The action of the Owens valley raiding party brought the long standing differences between the city water department and the residents of that section to a climax which, it was predicted, might result in bloodshed unless settled quickly.

Plans Injunction

W. B. Mathews, chief counsel for the water bureau, was hastily drawing up a petition for an injunction which he will ask Superior Judge William Dehy of Inyo county to issue. The petition will charge that an injunction is needed to restrain the Owens people from overt acts in connection with trespass on city property and asks that the raiders be permanently barred from the city's aqueduct.

The latest word from Sheriff Collins was that the band of raiding men were still gathered at Lone Pine and they informed the sheriff they were going to stay on guard at the head gates of the aqueduct.

Prominent People

Included in the Owens valley "mob" are prominent residents of the section, including bankers and other business men, according to

ANNUAL CLUB BAZAAR IS OPENED

Colorful Decorations and Booths Mark Event as Patrons Purchase

Presenting a brilliant scene, the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse received crowds of club members and guests this afternoon for the annual club bazaar, to continue until tomorrow night.

Colorful in their decoration and appointments the various booths and other attractions were put in readiness this morning and at an early hour the building was filled with throngs of people bent on taking advantage of the urgent slogan of the holiday time "Shop Early and Avoid the Rush."

Mrs. Homer D. Lockwood, chairman of ways and means, chairmen of committees, curators of departments, and others who are assisting with the annual event, are being complimented on the splendid management seen in every detail. Luncheon was served at noon and will be served again tomorrow at 12 o'clock.

Dancing Tonight

Dancing will be the diversion for the crowds tonight. Maids' and Young Matrons' and the Fine Arts' departments have roped the banquet hall off, and dance tickets will be sold for a nickel apiece. Music will be furnished by Roy Biddlecom's Elks' orchestra.

There is no admission charge and no chances will be sold, Mrs. Lockwood announces, in inviting Glendalians to visit the clubhouse and take part in aiding the club women to add a goodly sum to the treasury.

Men's Club Preparing For Annual Election

Annual election of officers of the Men's club at Tropico Presbyterian church is scheduled for December 5. A straw ballot now under way will decide candidates for the several offices to be filled. The straw votes for president, vice president and secretary-treasurer are asked to be turned in immediately or mailed to James F. Winnard, pastor, 457 Riverside drive.

Glendale Man Out to Beat Policy Record

Arthur Nixon, Glendale manager for the New England Mutual Life Insurance Co., with offices at 622 Security building, is out to break the world's record for number of policies written in one month. The world's record at the beginning of this year, 157 completed applications in one month made by a New York City man, has already been broken in Los Angeles with 268 applications last month.

Mr. Nixon has set his goal at 300 applications to be written in twenty-seven working days, November 18 to December 19. Following are figures Mr. Nixon will have to beat to hold the world record: Demopolis, Ala., 176; Nashville, Tenn., 180; Montgomery, Ala., 182; Birmingham, Ala., 209; Timmonsville, S. C., 235; Houston, Texas, 247; Sturgeon Bay, Wis., 251; Cattaraugus, N. Y., 262; Los Angeles, 268.

Three Adults Burned As Car Catches Fire

A blazing car at the service station on the corner of Los Feliz and San Fernando roads brought out the Glendale fire department just after midnight this morning, in charge of Chief A. H. Lankford. The blaze was extinguished with water and chemicals. The service station was not damaged to any appreciable extent, the chief reports.

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Elliott of 2907 Verdune street, Los Angeles, and Mrs. J. Brown of 2344 Cochran street, Los Angeles, were slightly burned. Wynette, Elsie and Ella, children of the Elliotts, were not burned, Chief Lankford reports. The car was badly damaged. The explosion and fire came while the gas tank was being filled and the cause is unknown.

FINGERPRINT ON CHECKS IS URGED

Police Sergeant Suggests Method As Sure Guard Against Forgery

The best check protector in the world is a fingerprint and this method of guarding bank accounts against the wiles of forgers and their ilk is advocated by Detective Sergeant F. C. Williams of the Glendale police department, fingerprint expert and graduate of that department of the University of Applied Science, Chicago.

Sergeant Williams, who is a recent addition and was selected by Chief John D. Fraser to help the department cope with the crime situation that is inevitable in a city of nearly 60,000, comes to Glendale after twenty years, wide and varied experience as a private detective and fingerprint expert. He is, in the flesh, the type of man that in fiction has thrilled the minds of young and old alike—cold, practical, scientific.

Not only checks but railroad and steamship tickets, passports, deeds and many other types of important documents could be more adequately protected against fraud by the fingerprint method than any other way, Sergeant Williams holds. Many banks, upon the suggestion of customers with checking accounts, are already employing this method of identification, he argues, while certain large corporations that have adopted the system report highly satisfactory results with it.

Idea Not New

"The idea is not new, but amazingly old," says Sergeant Williams. "More than 1000 years ago the Chinese used the imprint of their thumbs on documents as a sign manual. In 1823 the idea was taken up at Breslau but was not adopted. In 1858, a fingerprint means of identification was invented and used with much success by the British in India, and in 1894 the Henry system, now in use throughout the United States and England, was devised, classified and adopted.

"The use of fingerprints in the commercial world offers an immense field that is just beginning to be developed. In every line of work where absolute identity is sought, the fingerprint method offers the only infallible check. A system that is in use by the United States government,

Corporation Members Plan Dinner Tuesday

Invitations have been issued for the first anniversary dinner and stockholders' meeting of the H. S. McCormack & Associates, Inc., 522 Security building, which will be held at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse Tuesday night, January 13, 1925. The dinner will be served in the Italian tea room. As the Italian tea room is limited to fifty persons, the directors have planned to accept reservations for fifteen guests. The business meeting, presentation of reports and election of officers will take place immediately after the dinner and "associates" who are unable to attend the dinner can participate in the business to follow.

Approximately one-half of the "McCormack Associates" are scattered throughout the United States, but acceptances have already been received from stockholders residing as far as 2000 miles away from Glendale, signifying their intention of taking advantage of this opportunity to visit California and investigate at first hand the city of Glendale where their principal investments are.

REPUBLICAN CLUB ELECTS TUESDAY

Committee on Organization To Report at Meeting In City Hall

By R. S. PERSON,
Temporary Chairman, Glendale Republican Club.

Committee on organization of the newly formed Glendale Republican club, headed by Colonel James W. Everington, has completed its roster of nominations for temporary officers and directors. No announcement of those who have been nominated will be given out until the meeting Tuesday night.

There will be an adjourned meeting of Republicans at the council chamber in the city hall, Tuesday night, November 18, at 7:30 o'clock, to receive the reports of the committees on constitution and by-laws and organization and take action thereon. At this meeting it is proposed to adopt a constitution and choose officers for a short term ending February 12, 1925. Lincoln's birthday anniversary; also to choose an executive committee of five for the same short term. The Glendale Republican club will then begin to function as a permanent organization.

Every Republican who attended the initial meeting a week ago, to the number of about sixty-two, is urged to attend Tuesday night and bring at least one new member.

Invite Republicans

Invitation again is extended to all local Republicans to attend and take part in the proceedings. Local members of the sixty-first assembly district Republican club are cordially invited to become 'charter members' of the Glendale Republican club. Local members of any other Republican organization are also included in this invitation.

The draft of the constitution which will be submitted with a unanimous committee report for its adoption, contains this preamble, reciting the object of the organization. "To aid in preserving the integrity of the constitution of the United States, and the form of government ordained and established by the fathers of our republic; to promote patriotism and respect for law and established authority; and to perpetuate the Republican party as a virile political agency of better government and to enlarge its influence as the dominant constructive and defensive force in American politics."

That expresses a realizable ideal and it calls for the best that there is in us. Join us in putting together a clean-cut political organization with high purpose and then give it your active support to keep it such.

Mysterious Man Tries To Sell Pearls Cheap

A mysterious figure dropped into Glendale Saturday night, carrying in the frayed pocket of an old brown overcoat a glittering string of pearls which he tried to barter with several Gateway merchants for food or money. Finally he made his way up to the Valley market at 602 South Brand boulevard and attempted to dispose of the pearls for $5.

Herman Nicolai, proprietor of the market, was not there at the time, but one of the men phoned Glendale police headquarters as soon as the dilapidated figure had left the store. Detectives were sent to the section at once and combed the vicinity for blocks, but the mysterious figure had melted into the night out of which he came.

Johnston of Glendale pyramid, Ancient Egyptian Order of Sciots, returned from Redding this morning with his delegation of local members, after a three-day session with Sciots from California, Nevada and Oregon, assembled at the northern city for the annual convention. They came down on one of the five special trains that had converged on Reading from the various oints of the compass, for the big annual "doings." There were present, all told, over 10,000 delegates and their families, according to Toparch Johnston, and the twelve bands and eight crack drill teams made things lively every minute of the time.

Dances were held each afternoon and night in the Redding theatre and in the Elks' lodge. A special feature of the convention was a visit to the old mining town of Shasta, where a giant barbecue was held. Those returning with Toparch Johnston this morning were: Lieutenant W. J. Royle, George Thomas, Charles Shaddock and Sam Warren.

WORLD'S RECORD

TO THE PEOPLE OF
"THE FASTEST GROWING CITY IN AMERICA":

I am out to bring to Glendale the honor of the World's Record for the number of Life Insurance Applications written during a month of twenty-seven working days.

The World's Record at the beginning of this year was 157 completed applications written by a man in New York City.

During this year that record has been broken nine times with the following records: Demopolis, Ala., 176; Nashville, Tenn., 180; Montgomery, Ala., 182; Birmingham, Ala., 209; Timmonsville, S. C., 235; Houston, Texas, 247; Sturgeon Bay, Wis., 251; Cattaraugus, N. Y., 262; and the latest record to date, Los Angeles, Calif., 268, written last month.

I am sure that all of these records can be broken by "The Fastest Growing City in America." I want to make a record that will stand for some time, so I am going to make an effort to write 300 applications during the twenty-seven working days from Nov. 18 to Dec. 19, 1924, both inclusive, with Thanksgiving Day counted out. I have the honor to represent "The Oldest Life Insurance Company in America." Chartered in 1835.

Fellow Glendalians: I am sure that you will help me to bring this honor to Glendale. Write me or telephone me that you are with me.

THE IMPOSSIBLE—
Is often surprisingly easy when we try it.
Puts all the wish-bones to flight early.
Is what makes heroes out of ordinary men.
Is only the mask which the difficult wears.
Is where the ordinary man quits and the extraordinary begins.
Terrifies the timid and challenges the courageous.
Is usually the obvious after it is done.

POWER OF SUGGESTION

In no way is the influence of suggestion demonstrated more clearly than in advertising. Anyone can easily think of articles that were in popular use ten, twenty or thirty years ago. Whether they are still popular or have been thrown into the discard depends entirely upon whether or not they have continued to be extensively advertised.

You cannot think of an article of general use and reputation which has not been made so by advertising, and has not maintained its popularity through advertising. A large number of superior articles and products once in general use are no longer called for by the consumer because they are no longer advertised, and the buyer has forgotten they are manufactured.

National advertisers this year increased their advertising twenty per cent above 1923, according to a report made at a recent meeting of the American Association of Advertising agents. This includes only the exploitation of articles of general use and purchase throughout the country. Manufacturers whose products are used extensively have not built up their business by spending money blindly, and it is not to be doubted that they know what they are doing when they set aside huge sums yearly for advertising. They know the power of advertising, and they have paid as high as $10,000 for one page of a single issue of a publication. You may use the article advertised and know its value, but you continue to buy it only because of this power of suggestion.

Most advertising influences the buyer subconsciously. Without giving the matter much, if any, thought, he knows the advertised article is reliable. And, he knows the price is as low or lower than the unadvertised product, for the increase of sales through advertising permits a smaller profit on each sale.

There is no doubt that the future will see a continued increase in the volume of all kinds of advertising and an improvement in its character.

THE COMMUNITY CHEST

The Community Chest drive is on. Unselfish men and women are giving their time to make it a success. No matter how worthy the cause and how great their enthusiasm, it is none too pleasant a task to ask people for money, and these workers deserve to be met with the greatest courtesy and the largest subscriptions that we can give them.

Glendale is fortunate in having no slums. While our charitable organizations find some work to do, Glendale is far below the average city of the same size in the number of needy people, so Glendale citizens are not often called upon to contribute to charities within their own city.

We are prosperous and we are extravagant. What the average Glendale family spends carelessly, thoughtlessly for trivialities in a week's time would make a generous fund in itself. What we could give and not miss would help a great deal, but it is said that giving is not of much value unless accompanied by self-sacrifice, and this is a case where, to use a phrase coined during the war, "we should give until it hurts."

We should express thanks for our prosperity as a city by making a generous subscription to the Chest. All of the beneficiaries of the fund are worthy, every cent subscribed will be used to good purpose and the Chest plan, if successful, will eliminate many other drives and calls and for contributions. The Community Chest is worthy of your support.

CIVIL SERVICE VS. SPOILS

It is a hopeful sign that an organization has been perfected, known as the National Service Reform League, whose object is to do away with patronage in political parties as a means of maintaining organizations and gaining support. While this organization has been endorsed by politicians in both parties, the spoils system is so firmly entrenched in our political life and is such a vital part of party organizations that any agency working to defeat it has a tremendous task before it.

The people are observing, although somewhat indifferent in regard to evils of this nature. They know that where party loyalty and not efficiency is the qualification for a job the people are neither capably nor economically served. The National Service Reform league has a very worthy object and the people should impress it upon their party leaders that this organization must have their support.

EMMA LOVES US STILL

Emma Goldman, who called down maledictions upon the United States when she was deported a few years ago, saying she was leaving a land of barbarians for her beloved Russia, has found conditions in that country not so pleasant. Trouble with her communistic friends and with the Soviet government made it expedient for her to go to England, where for the time being she is quiet. She confessed condescendingly, recently, that she is still fond of the United States and hopes to return here some time, somehow. Emma is a woman we can well do without, and our immigration service should make it a point to see that she is not unloaded upon us again. However, the harm done by her and her kind is probably greatly exaggerated.

PROHIBITION ENFORCEMENT

Ontario, Canada, is taking steps to find out whether one hundred per cent enforcement of prohibition is possible. Having voted for complete dry rule the province has determined to have dry rule. Of seventy-one towns, fifty returned dry majorities. Some of the larger cities were in favor of local option, but they are asking, with the rural communities, to have all bootleggers punished.

It is not likely that Ontario can achieve complete enforcement of the measure. It has never been possible to do it with any other law. No human being or any government has ever achieved perfection. And yet these Canadians are going at the matter in the right way. An ideal cannot be too high.

MORE POWDER TO HIM!

Our Wayward Emotions

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Feeling is about all there is to life.

Life is determined by its feelings and some of us are willing to die for feeling.

The common fallacy is that certain lives are emotionless. People take up all sorts of stunts to get a thrill. The thrill comes anyway.

It is necessary, with emotions, to consider the cause and effect. The emotions are not cause, they are effect; they are a symptom. They are caused by our mode of life. If a man will go ahead and do his duty, the proper emotions will come to him.

Emotions run in ruts, like other things. They are the creatures of habit. People think they cannot write, or compose music, without an inspiration. The best examples of creative genius show us that inspiration comes as a result of custom.

Get used to doing a certain thing at a certain time every day and the emotion will come.

Some people are emotion hounds. They are always seeking some new sensation. They are apt to fritter themselves away, because the best kind of emotions follow action and do not precede it.

An emotion is useless unless it leads to some kind of activity. There are people who indulge in emotions, but never translate them into work. Emotions are given us in order to enable us to transform them into deeds, and those who do not transform them, waste them.

The emotions have their police force, which are the inhibitions. Where these are weak in a person he is apt to become a criminal of some sort, and as they are strong, he behaves himself.

Horoscope

This is an uncertain day, according to astrology, for, while the sun in benefic aspect dominates, Mars and Uranus are both adverse.

It is a time fairly promising for those who visit wielders of power or influence in politics.

The sun smiles on all who seek employment and there is a remarkably good chance of success in any quest for positions.

Much rumor of a disturbing nature is likely to be prevalent at this time when foreign relations may cause anxiety.

Uranus is in a place supposed to cause persons to look on the dark side of things. Positive thoughts of optimism should be cultivated.

Domestic difficulties probably will be easily precipitated under this direction of the stars and should be carefully avoided.

Conflicting emotions and therefore disappointing conditions may be common at this time.

All risky financial ventures and speculations of every description should be sedulously avoided.

In the evening the vibrations are favorable for literary interests of a lighter nature and for many forms of amusement.

Warning is given that the planetary government is not good for theatres in the sense that while it stimulates the increase of playhouses it causes producers to offer too many attractions.

Many disappointments will be recorded among those who offer motion pictures as well as those who present plays, the seers foretell.

Much acrimony will be apparent in debates in state legislatures and in congress in the coming winter.

Persons whose birthdate it is may have a year in which they bear many responsibilities. Business affairs may command much attention.

Children born on this day may be headstrong and unsettled. These subjects of Scorpio are usually magnetic and able to manage big business affairs.

BARGAIN DAY

Small Boy (observing stout lady weighing herself on coin scales): "Do you get all that for a penny?"

Who's Who

One of the most startling features of the recent election was the overwhelming victory of Governor "Vic" Donahey in Ohio. In the face of a Republican landslide which carried all other Republican state candidates President Coolidge, and Republican county tickets through to tremendous pluralities, Governor Donahey, running for re-election against ex-Governor Harry L. Davis, carried the state by a plurality expected, in official returns, to run around the 150,000 mark.

Political students of both parties are unanimous in calling the governor "the greatest vote getter the state has ever had."

Donahey's rise from a farm boy to the position of chief executive of his state reads like fiction.

He was born July 7, 1873, on a farm in Tuscarawas county. As named by his parents he is Alvin Victor and he chose the name of Vic for himself.

Donahey received his early training in the Tuscarawas county schools and the Methodist Sunday school. He quit school at the age of 15 and went to work on a farm. When he was 23 he married Miss Edith Sterling of Dover, Ohio. They have ten children.

In 1900 Donahey was elected clerk of Goshen township, which includes New Philadelphia. In 1904 he was elected auditor of Tuscarawas county and re-elected in 1906. In 1912 he was elected state auditor and re-elected in 1916.

In his first race for governor, in 1920, Donahey was defeated by Harry Davis of Cleveland, but in 1922 he defeated Carmi Thompson of Cleveland for the first office in the state.

Donahey and the state legislature, strongly Republican, were at cross purposes during the session of the general assembly, with the result that the governor set a new record for vetoing bills passed by the legislature, with seventy-six. The senate struck back by refusing to approve many of the administrative appointments. Both houses re-enacted, over his veto, fourteen measures he had disapproved.

Donahey did not have the backing of the Democratic bosses in the recent campaign.

A VOICE FROM BEYOND

The instructor in the flying school was in fine fettle.

"Now, Mr. McManus," he snapped, "perhaps you will be good enough to suppose yourself the bearer of information upon the delivery of which depends the fate of an army and you will find yourself in some such cul-de-sac as this: Squadrons in hot pursuit and bearing down on you from above; enemy air-guns peppering you from below, a tornado rushing up ahead and your engines totally disabled. What would you do to insure the safe delivery of your information?"

The harried youth thought rapidly, and then submitted:

"Just say my prayers, sir, and then try and get in touch with the nearest medium."

Comment From Exchanges

LARGE APPROPRIATIONS

(From Fresno Bee)

The officers and crew of the Shenandoah, having successfully and brilliantly accomplished their flight across the United States and back again, are looking for new worlds to conquer.

They now are asking that the navy department and the president again approve plans for a trip across the Arctic regions and to the North Pole, abandoned several months ago.

The request does credit to their courage and confidence. And if the army fliers can fly around the world, why should not the navy blimp navigators fly over the top thereof?

The army fliers learned valuable lessons both for the service and for themselves in their recently completed world voyage; but did that venture justify its heavy financial outlay?

It is notorious that our national airplane program has fallen behind that of all the other great powers; that if the supremacy of the air were at stake, Uncle Sam would not be in a much stronger position to defend his rights than when we entered the war; that Congress has been exceedingly laggard in meeting even the most modest requests for new equipment and enlargement of the aviation corps.

Consequently, it is at least debatable whether the hundreds of thousands of dollars used to pay the expenses of the world flight—aside from the thrills provided—would not have been used to a better advantage had they been used in developing our inadequate air defense.

And Uncle Sam sending out blimps to the North Pole is almost like a man buying an automobile while actually depriving himself of the necessaries of life.

In a recent statement, Admiral Jellicoe of the British navy declared one good dirigible in naval warfare is worth two scout cruisers.

Consequenty, before one-half of our available blimp fleet is risked in the Arctic among perils of which the army fliers got such a bitter taste in their flight between Alaska and Japan, it would be well to use whatever surplus is available in building more of them.

News Of Glendale Churches

TWO ADDRESSES GIVEN BY PASTOR

Rev. Thomas At Grand View Presbyterian Talks On Book Of Acts

A large congregation attended the services held at the Grand View Community Presbyterian church yesterday when the pastor, Dev. George W. Thomas delivered sermons at the morning and evening services. In the morning talk Rev. Thomas said:

"The Book of Acts is the greatest adventure of history, a marvelous recital of how the men and women of the first century did what Jesus had told them to do, and succeeded. The first seven chapters are the training school of the charter members of the 'First Church,' and the rest is the thrilling execution of the Great Commission. When we have the spirit they had, we shall have not merely apostolic succession, but better still, apostolic success.

"Not merely a new Heaven, but a new earth, is the full vision of Revelation," the pastor said in his evening sermon on "The Twelve Gated City of God."

New Heaven Descends

"The new Heaven descends and the new earth rises to meet it until they become one of God's tabernacles with man and the visions of the Glory shine in the reunited life of God and man. It is God's task to prepare the Heaven, which Jesus said he went to prepare. It is man's task under God to prepare the new earth, the task to which Jesus set him in the Great Commission, the task in which Jesus promised to be with us until it should be finished in the end of the world.

"Over the wondrous picture the great Apostle has painted on the canvas of Heaven in Revelation, there glow three words, that speak the heart of his vision: Reality, Glory, and Accessibility, the greatest of these being accessibility. On the east the three gates, on the north three gates, on the south three gates, on the west three gates.

Two Opposing Sides

"Accessibility on the east, land of sunrise and youth, accessibility on the north, land of hardship, struggle and disillusionment, accessibility on the south, land of life, its full maturity and the sun of noonday accessibility to the west, land of the sunset's gray or glory.

"For every side, three gates, one for vision, one for experience and one for service in every time and clime and faith, always open and never shut. The foundations of this new earth we are laying now with the jasper walls rising all about us, to shine in all their beauty when the rubbish of ages is removed and the Lord in His glory comes to claim his own."

Catholics Hear Masses At Holy Family Church

Masses were conducted at the Holy Family Catholic church, corner of Elk and Louise streets yesterday morning as usual with Father Michael Galvin, parish priest and Rev. John O'Donnell and Rev. Lynch, assisting.

PASTOR URGES CHRISTIAN LIFE

Rev. Calderwood Tells His Congregation Habits We Form Govern

"The endeavor of the Christian life is to be Christian-like," said Rev. C. M. Calderwod, pastor of the Congregational church in his sermon yesterday morning when he took as his subject "Christian Habits." "If we are to be like Christ," he said, "we should strive to be like him in his habits.

"The word 'habit' comes from the same word as 'having' or 'holding.' Any action which we have or hold for a long time increases in power until it has and holds us. Habits are customs that build themselves into our physical and mental nerves until they become at last a real part of our very self. Professor James tells us that ninety-nine per cent of our actions are habitual. So if habits hold us we are held ninety-nine per cent of the time.

Our Own Creations

"Habits are not inherited; they are of our own creation. They are not accidental. If you have a bad habit, you are to blame. You are to blame if you have not formed good habits. Christians should be aware of the tremendous power of habits.

"Growth of our spiritual powers is dependent upon habits; of prayer, Bible study, worship, doing good, imitation of Christ and giving. God is a God of routine. Certain things he does every day, some every month and some every year. Jesus had habits. He went into the Synagogue on the Sabbath as was his custom. He prayed habitually. He was always doing good. He never ceased to forgive. It became natural for him to do things for they became a part of his life. Let us learn from Jesus."

Free Methodists Hear Rev. Graves In Sermon

"The Most Precious Thing of the Universe" was the subject of the sermon delivered by Rev. W. C. Graves, at the Free Methodist church yesterday morning. Organization of the Sunday school took place preceding the sermon with the new superintendent in charge.

'Mortals, Immortals' Christian Science Talk

"Mortals and Immortals" was the subject for the sermon at the Christian Science church held yesterday morning and evening. Testimonial services are held each Wesdnesday night.

Rev. Mrs. Moore Talks To Occult Scientists

Occult Science of the Christ church held the usual service at 113 South Orange street yesterday with Rev. Mrs. Mabel Moore in charge.

'SUPREME LOVE' IS REV. KLINE'S TALK

Central Avenue Methodist Pastor Urges Greatest Love Of God

Rev. Leo C. Kline, pastor of the Central Avenue Methodist church took as his subject "The World's Last Hope" for his morning sermon yesterday. The text was Corinthians 2-5:17, "Therefore if any man be in Christ he is a new creature."

Rev. Kline said: "The greatest problem before mankind today, is to bring about that condition which Jesus declared to be the thing of greatest importance, namely, that every man should love God supremely and his neighbor as himself. All the injustice, oppression, crime and evil of every sort is the result of man's failure to meet these two conditions and the reason for his failure to meet these conditions is because man in his natural state is unable to love God supremely and his neighbor as himself.

Transforming Power

"What he needs then is not change of environment, not education, not an easier means of obtaining his bread, not higher idealism, not more freedom, he needs the transforming power of God in his life. When the man is renewed, he will immediately begin to change things about, as evidenced by the remarkable transformations of life and conditions in some of the darkened lands where Christianity is beginning to penetrate.

"'Love worketh no ill to one's neighbor' is a saying everlastingly true. Christ in the life, ruling, directing empowering is the world's only hope. Everything else has been tried and has failed. Christ not only taught how one ought to live, but He made possible that sort of life."

'SELF DISCOVERY' REV. FORD TOPIC

Pastor of First Baptist Church Tells Audience Of Prodigal Son

Rev. Ernest E. Ford spoke on "Self Discovery" at the service held at the First Baptist church last night taking the text from the story of the prodigal son, "He came to himself."

Rev. Ford said: "The hardest lesson in life's school is to get a true valuation of ourselves. It is very easy to analyze, classify, pigeonhole others; but when we come to ourselves we are a bit prejudiced. Our loved ones praise us and spoil us. Our friends commend us, but do not tell us our faults. Our foes criticise us and make us angry. How shall we know how we look if we do not use the mirror? How shall we know ourselves without a testing? Oliver Wendel Holmes said: 'When James and John are talking there are six people present. John as John thinks of himself. John as James thinks of him. And John as he really is. And the same is true of James.

"The prodigal 'came to himself,' meaning that he discovered five things about himself. First, he discovered himself to be what he was not before suspected. Second, he discovered that he was made to be a son and not a prodigal. Third, he discovered that to live the life of a prodigal, when he was made to be a son, was misery and ruin. Fourth, in discovering himself, he discovered his Father. Fifth, that his place as a son was not among the swine, but at home with his father. So he said: 'I will arise and go to my father.'

Calling Campaign Report

"Any soul that violates this law of relationship of son and father, will come to the swine and husks. When he finds his true self in his right relationship with God, he will arise and go home."

What hinders "coming to himself?" The self is hid under the debris of sin. Sin is the failure to recognize our relationship and dependence on God. How may one find self, home, God? Jesus said: "I am the way, the truth and the life, no man cometh home to the Father but by me."

The calling campaign being conducted by the Women's union of the First Baptist church made a tentative report at the morning service yesterday. The east division was ahead having made 1572 calls in the past three weeks, while the west division reported only 785. Making a total of 2357 calls reported. The contest closes December 7. Great enthusiasm prevails, and the campaign from now on promises to be even more lively because at the close there is to be a big church supper and the division making the greatest number of calls will be the guests of honor.

Latter Day Saints In Usual Sunday Service

Services of the Church of Jesus Christ (Latter Day Saints) are held at the Knights of Pythias hall, corner of South Brand boulevard and Park avenue and the usual service was held yesterday morning.

'NARROW DOOR' IS PASTOR'S SERMON

Rev. Livingston, Pastor of Casa Verdugo Methodist, Takes Theme Sunday

Rev. J. C. Livingston, pastor of the Casa Verdugo Methodist church, spoke on "The Narrow Door" at the service held yesterday morning, saying:

"It was, perhaps, quite to be expected that a disciple might ask our Lord: 'Are there few that be saved?' So much as they had seen of current religion, with its formalisms and fasts, its ceremonies and cold legalisms, it must have seemed a rather doubtful matter as to whether any very great number met all the requirements.

"Then, too, they had not yet solved the fine are of distinction as between a kingdom to come by observation and a kingdom that 'is within you.' Rather than meet irrelevant questions, he would that they might know that to that blessed precinct 'many will seek to enter in, and shall not be able.'

Right and Wrong Way

"In all the issues of life there are two ways, two doors, two goals, two foundations. There is a right way and a wrong way. You have to take one or the other, but you cannot take both. There is a wide door and a narrow door. We have to take one or the other, but not both. There is a goal of heavenly grace, and peace, and rest. Would God that more were finding it. And that there is a goal of crime, and lust, and greed, and shame, that many find, is evidenced by broken hearts and broken bodies, enervated society and courts of justice. There is a foundation that is as enduring as the hills of time, and there is a foundation that is as unstable as the shifting sands upon the shore. 'Enter ye at the narrow gate; for wide is the gate and broad is the way that leadeth to destruction, and many there be which go in thereat.'

"The 'narrow gate' was too narrow for the Pharisee, with his heady pride, dogmatic exclusiveness and exacting legalism, but wide enough for the repentant publican, the sinful woman, and the thief on the cross; and that's a good deal wider than some very respectable persons are willing to make for erring souls. He once said that the way is so narrow that it is easier for the camel to go through the eye of the needle than for a rich man to enter the kingdom that is within you.'

'Needle's Eye'

"Of course, in this modern age, we have trimmed that down by pointing out that there was a gate in the city walls known as 'the needle's eye,' but, trimmers notwithstanding, Jesus meant just what he said. I saw a contract for $5000, given in conjunction with a mortgage and a cash equity for a home, and that contract was sold to a broker at a 25 per cent discount, and the broker proceeded to collect $5000, at 7 per cent interest, on the contract for which he paid only $3750. If you tell me that that broker can enter into the kingdom of grace 'that is within,' then, in the language of my Lord, I say 'it is easier for the camel to go through the eye of the needle.' Many shall seek to enter and not be able, until by the narrow way—the way of Zaccheus—they enter in.

"Then there is a wide way, it is known as broad and liberal. Don't make much difference what you believe, or whether you know that you believe anything. You may like Bob Ingersoll, tear all the verities out of the old Word, until only a cover remains in your hand, but it's the destructive way—not constructive. No humanitarian structure or cause stands to honor or perpetuate its name. Not so of the way of Him, who said 'I am the way.' Other ways are wrong ways, His the eternal Right.

Evangelistic Services For School Children

Evangelistic services are being held by the Children's Evangelistic association in co-operation with the Atwater Park Baptist church, at 3:30 o'clock and 7:30 o'clock. The service yesterday afternoon included a talk to boys and girls of school age. H. H. MacArthur, evangelist and Mrs. MacArthur, soloist are in charge.

'Pastor Hath Need' Is Dr. L.A. Ferris Sermon

Dr. Lincoln A. Ferris, pastor of the First Methodist church delivered a sermon on "The Pastor Hath Need" yesterday morning. His evening theme was "The Dad That Turned Out Better Than His Mother Hoped." Special music was rendered at both services.

Bethel Chapel Pastor Preaches on 'Baptism'

Rev. A. M. Frodsham, pastor of the Bethel chapel, 633 East Colorado street preached on the subject "Baptism, Its Manner, Mode and Meaning" at the service held yesterday morning. Baptismal services were held at the church by J. H. Clark, of Lankershim in the afternoon.

CO-OPERATION IS URGED BY PASTOR

Rev. Cole Tells Congregation 'Every Member Church' Is Desirable

"An Every Member Church" was the topic of the sermon delivered by Rev. C. A. Cole, pastor of the Central Christian church, yesterday morning. He said:

"The text that is suggestive of this subject is 1 Cor. 12:7, 'Each receives his manifestation of the Spirit for the common good.' We hear a good deal about the Every Member Movement in this and that. If you will turn to your Bibles you will be surprised to find expressions signifying the idea of unanimity and every member co-operation about 500 times. From the building of the tabernacle on the every member plan down through the history of the people of God we find the exhortation to unanimity. Whether it was a census of the people in the wilderness, whether it was for war or worship, the people of God were organized on the every member plan.

In the church Christ has given to every man his work. Every man is to be rewarded, according to his work. The exhortation of personal responsibility is laid heavily upon every Christian by the writers of the New Testament.

If the church limps and halts today it is because of lethargy and slackness upon the part of some upon whom we should depend for support. This same thing is true of every organization among men.

Co-operation Urged

So we urge in all good things an every member co-operation, a united effort along all lines. We plead for a unanimous church. It could do almost anything for Christ and the good of humanity. First of all, we need an every member praying church. A man cannot pray for a thing very long without using some effort to bring to pass the object of his prayers. The strongholds of Satan would soon totter if every Christian prayed, if we prayed unitedly.

"I plead for an every member working church. It is a scientific fact, also a spiritual fact, that idleness is always a prelude to death. The church is not an amalgamated association for the avoidance of activity; it is rather a conscientious company of perspiring co-operators. Let us leave Heaven to God, but while we are here let us work for God, for the night cometh when no man can work. It should be the high resolve of every single church member, "Surely the captain can depend on me, though but an arm-or-bearer I may be."

"I plead for an every member witnessing church. The world could be brought to Christ in any generation that its Christians would consistently witness for Christ. Say not, 'There are yet four months and then cometh the harvest.' We have said that too long already."

'Home Coming Day' Christian Church Plan

During this week a campaign of home evangelism will be carried on by the Central Christian church, in anticipation of "Home-coming Day" next Sunday. Floyd Mercer is in charge of the workers, who go out every night visiting prospective church members.

United Brethren Hear Rev. and Mrs. Spencer

Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Spencer conducted the Sunday services held at the United Brethren in Christ church held yesterday.

Stewardship Subject At Meeting of C. E.

"Stewardship; Our Money for Christ," was the topic at the senior intermediate Christian Endeavor meeting at the First Presbyterian church last night. Lawrence Lynn and Spencer Jewell were leaders. Keith L. Brooks, teacher of the men's Bible class, addressed the group on the subject of tithing. Tenth legion membership blanks were passed around and many new legioners signed up. Talks were made by D. L. Foster, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Brown and various members of the organization. A violin solo was rendered by Miss Lucille Allen.

Previous to the meeting, twelve members of the society held an afternoon meeting at the Los Angeles General hospital, where flowers were distributed and a program of song and cheer administered. Activities of the week include meetings on the following Sunday afternoon, by the Young Men's Choral club and the prayer meeting department of the society.

The Wide-Awake Modern Merchant Does Not Hide His Light Under A Bushel

Some people shy away at the first reference to trading at home. They seem to feel that the merchants are trying to "put something over," that the business men are in league to get their money.

The merchant who doesn't ask for business today belongs in the dark ages. The modern business man describes his stock in detail, gives his prices and tells all about the service he can render to customers and those he hopes to make his customers. The wide-awake man gets his store message before the greatest possible number of prospective patrons. And whom should he seek to interest in his business and make his customers if not the home town people? To whom should he look for business but to his fellow citizens, those who are working with him in Community Development?

When the modern merchant asks your trade he is not seeking charity or favors. The time was when storekeepers asked for business for the sole reason that they needed it. Whether or not they could give you value received did not enter into the matter at all. But that day is long past in Glendale. The merchandising game is no one-sided affair. The merchant has to produce the goods, both literally and figuratively.

The home town people have helped to build in Glendale a business center that is phenomenal, considering Glendale's size and age. We have wide-awake business men. Yes, but it is your trade that has helped them build such fine stores, render such superior service and carry such representative lines of merchandise.

Your patronage of the home town merchants has redounded to the credit of Glendale and to your credit as a citizen of Glendale. The firms represented on this page know that a Greater Glendale is possible only in co-operating with you and so they have prepared themselves to meet your needs. And, as up-to-date business and professional men and women, they do not hesitate to ask you for business.

MUCH ADO ABOUT SOMETHING

Riots. Nurses expelled from hospitals. Divorces. Wife beatings. "Spite" beards. Suicides.

Why? Because, forsooth, some women choose to wear their hair in a certain fashion—a fashion that is becoming, takes infinitely less time to do, is hygienic and is comfortable because, forsooth, they have decided to cut their hair.

My word! Ye Gods! Great Allah! And all of these and more of them when I think of certain hospitals dismissing their nurses for adopting this hygienic fashion, hospitals that are supposed to do everything to promote hygiene in all ways. Hospitals that should do everything in their power to help their nurses to be more efficient!

I wonder, when the men realized that long hair was an abomination and decided to cut it off, if there was the same senseless agitation against it. I wonder if the women protested that it would make their men less masculine, would change their voices and make them beardless? I wonder if the hair dressers and the false hair manufacturers instituted organized propaganda to show the evils that would result if the practice continued. I wish I had the time to look up the literature. It would be interesting. No doubt, however, they did, for no revolution was ever ushered in without trouble.

Do I consider the present fashion of short hair for women a revolution? I do. It isn't a fad. I believe it has come to stay. The propaganda of the false hair manufacturers, the hair dressers and hairpin manufacturers, and all the childish opposition of those who do not fancy it, are as powerless as the wave of a baby's hand. Of course, we can't blame the false hair and hairpin manufacturers for protesting. Naturally, they are going to have to go out of business. I suppose many of them have already done so.

"The next generation will see the world full of baldheaded women," asserts Mr. Byrne, smilingly (?), in an address at the opening of the sixth annual convention of the American Master Hairdressers' association. Mr. Byrne blames it on bobbed hair. "To fit the bobbed hair the milliners have had to make hats that fit the head very tightly. Result? Baldness, as sure as you're sitting there," Another hairdresser is quoted as saying that women will grow beards and develop a masculine voice in a few generations, and the race is jeopardized! Don't you believe it. In the first place, our hats do not fit any tighter now than they used to; in the second place, the tight hat bands as a cause for baldness in men is not proved. As for beards and masculine voices developing from cut hair, anyone who known anything about heredity knows that's impossible.

I confess I didn't have my hair cut until the style of the closer cut in the back was started. I had admired the long cut on young girls and had envied the older women who had the courage to adopt it. But I did not have the courage myself. I was held back by that "dignity" idea. But when I noticed how dignified, how neat, how becoming the new cut was to the maturer woman, and realized how sensible, how hygienic and how comfortable it would be, I hied me to the barber's.

I have had many letters asking my ideas on the subject. Will bobbing result in baldness? Do I think the middleaged woman should adopt it, and so forth? Now I have answered. My idea is that the older the woman is, the sooner she should be shorn. For she has a shorter time on this glorious sphere and she should not be wasting it on such useless work as doing up her hair. I have a friend who has had her hair bobbed for thirteen years now. She reckons she had saved by this procedure at least fifteen minutes a day. That totals approximately fifty days in time. Isn't that worth while?

Don't be afraid of baldness or beards. Continue to take care of your scalp, brushing it thoroughly so that it is as clean as a baby's palm. You need not be afraid of baldness. Cutting off the hair is not what makes men bald. They got bald even when they wore it long. The Bible says so.

The Wrath To Come

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM, Copyright 1924

CHAPTER XXI

"To my friend and host," he said, addressing Grant. "I drink to you fervently, sir. You are the prince of hosts. Three minutes ago I felt that slight uneasy sensation, that faint but insistent desire for alcoholic sustenance, which sometimes prompts me at about seven o'clock to press the bell for my own butler, or if I am in an hotel or at my club, to make certain suggestions to the waiter. The feeling comes and within three minutes it is gratified. Wonderful!"

He raised his glass to his lips and drained it.

"Have another," Grant invited; "there's a shakerful behind."

"I will," Mr. Blunn assented, without hesitation. "I like your cocktails, sir. I like the time and manner in which they are served. I like everything about them. It is indeed a very happy day. I am going two 'no trumps.'"

Gertrude raised her glass.

"Well," she said, "I suppose I must drink to the end of my grass-widowhood."

She looked across at Grant. He smiled inscrutably.

"You anticipate," he reminded her. "The Prince cannot arrive until the morning after tomorrow."

She paused.

"In that case," she decided, "I shall drink to something else."

Dinner, served as they crept at half-speed towards the harbor, was a wonderful meal. Grant's chef, who had ransacked Monte Carlo on the previous day and motored over to Nice to collect the materials for one of his favorite sauces, had surpassed himself. Every one except Gertrude seemed in the highest possible spirits. Cornelius Blunn, growing pinker with every course, sat like an overgrown and over-filled child—sometimes witty, sometimes ingenuous, always amusing. Rose Lancaster on one side and Susan on the other were admirable and appreciative foils for his gallantries. Gertrude, on Grant's right, was a little silent and intense; Lymane, on her other side, sulky and inclined to be melodramatic. He was continually endeavoring to inveigle his neighbor into a whispered conversation which she, as persistently, discouraged. She declined altogether to take him seriously.

"My dear man," she protested, "don't you understand the situation? I cannot flirt with you any longer. My husband will be here within a few hours. I must bring myself into the necessary state of mind to receive him. It is a calamity, perhaps, but it must be borne."

"You have the whole of tomorrow," he muttered.

"It will take me the whole of tomorrow to find myself," she assured him. "Here have I been encouraging Mr. Slattery and, at any rate, listening to you, with all the license of a fairly respectable but susceptible grass widow. Otto is very jealous and I am a very dutiful wife. I have little more than twenty-four hours to forget you both. I must be left entirely alone. I have promised to dine with Mr. Slattery tomorrow night, and a promise is a thing I never break. I warn him, however, that it will be—well—"

"I rather understood," Lymane interrupted bitterly, "that you were dining with me and coming somewhere to dance afterwards."

"That was the night after, my friend," she replied. "And, alas! there's nothing in the least modern about Otto. I'll give every one fair warning that while he is here I shall not be allowed to dine or flirt with any one. Tomorrow night is my last evening of freedom. Don't be surprised, Grant, if I lead you a terrible dance."

"Why should they have a dinner to themselves?" Cornelius Blunn exclaimed, turning to Rose Lancaster. "I will give a dinner party tomorrow night. I invite everybody. I have some other friends, over at Nice. I will wire for them. Prince Lutrecht and his wife shall come. I will spend the whole of tomorrow arranging it. I cannot equal this festival but I will see what can be done. Accept quickly, please, every one of you."

There was a little affirmative chorus. Cornelius Blunn looked across at Gertrude. She set her lips and shook her head.

"I shall not give up my own dinner," she declared, defiantly, "and I decline to let Mr. Slattery off."

"Very well," Blunn acquiesced good-humoredly. "I shall either alter the date of mine or it shall be an opposition. I shall probably have refinements which have never been thought of before. I shall have the roof removed from the Hotel de Paris for a quarter of an hour only and presents dropped down from aeroplanes for everyone. I shall have Mademoiselle Lebrun from Nice to sing to us and Coquinet to tell us stories. I shall—"

"Don't give it all away," Gertrude interrupted. "If you are trying to tempt me, I am quite firm. If you give your dinner tomorrow night, I shall dine with Mr. Slattery."

"My attitude towards your husband in this matter," Blunn declared, "will be one of pained but remorseful silence."

"So long as it really is silence," Gertrude laughed.

"I have ordered coffee and liquors on deck," Grant announced. "We are just entering the bay and the moon is up. You ladies may need your wraps but it is quite warm."

DOBINSON PLAYERS

"Adam and Eva" will open again at the Tuesday Afternoon club theatre on Wednesday, and will show at 8:15 o'clock each night for the remainder of the week, with 2:30 o'clock Wednesday and Saturday matinees, announces Mrs Florence Dobinson of the Dobinson Players.

This popular comedy is from the pens of Guy Bolton and George Middleton, two of the best known dramatists in the country, responsible, separately and in collaboration, for some of the cleverest plays that have graced the New York stage in recent years.

"Adam and Eva" is one of the best of their offerings, and the best production the Dobinson Players have yet staged. Excellently cast, with elaborate settings and stunning gowns, it is a play calculated to have a wide popular appeal.

THE GATEWAY

Three favorites of the screen will be billed at the Gateway theatre today and Tuesday, in a picturization of A. S. M. Hutchinson's well known novel "The Clean Heart." In this production Percy Marmont, Otis Harlan and Marguerite de la Motte have unique roles somewhat different from any in which they have previously appeared. The story presents a phase of life often met but seldom treated in stories, that of a man who breaks down from overwork and fails to enjoy the fruits of his labor until after many strange and dramatic experiencces.

THE T. D. & L.

THE GLENDALE

"Wine," a Louis Gasnier production, continues at the Glendale theatre.

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY TELLS A STORY

"Why are you in such a hurry this morning, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy one day, as she saw the rabbit gentleman sliding down the stair banister railing to get his breakfast.

"I must hurry so I will not be late for school," answered Mr. Longears, with a smiling twinkle of his pink nose.

"Late for school! The idea! Your school days are over long ago!" laughed the muskrat lady housekeeper.

"Indeed not!" said the bunny as he sat down to eat some mushroom pancakes with maple sugar sauce sprinkled on them. "You forget that the Lady Mouse Teacher invited me to come to the Hollow Stump School today to tell the children a bedtime story."

"A bedtime story in the morning! I never heard of such a thing!" laughed Nurse Jane.

"Well, then, I'll call it a getting up story," spoke the rabbit uncle. After breakfast he hopped to the hollow stump. There he found the Lady Mouse Teacher smiling in the doorway.

"The children are waiting for you, Uncle Wiggily," squeaked Miss Mouse. "They want to hear the story I promised you would tell them."

Uncle Wiggily hopped into the school room. The animal children sat quietly in their seats. Those that had paws folded them. And those that had wings, like Lulu, Alice and Jimmy Wobble, the ducks, folded their wings on their desks.

"This story," began the rabbit gentleman, "is about a little boy who was afraid of the dark!"

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Jollie Longtail, the mouse boy. "I'm not afraid of the dark!"

"Nor am I," said Too Too, the owl boy.

"Quiet, children, please, and let Uncle Wiggily tell the story," squeaked the Lady Mouse. So the bunny gentleman went on:

"This boy was so afraid of the dark that he always ran home as fast as he could if he happened to be out when the sun went down. Of course he was silly, for the dark can't hurt, as you animal children know. But this boy always carried stones in his pocket to throw at things he foolishly imagined were after him in the dark.

"Once his mother sent him to the store, and it was dark when he started home through the woods. He whistled to himself, but he continued to get more and more frightened, and he thought he saw big fiery eyes staring at him in the darkness.

"At last he could stand it no longer. He put his hand in his pocket to get some stones he kept there for throwing at things in the dark, though he had never yet hit anything."

The children were keeping very quiet, for this was the scary part of the story.

"All of a sudden," said Uncle Wiggily, "the boy drew back his hand with a stone in it and he threw it—just like this!"

With that Uncle Wiggily caught up a chalk eraser from the ledge of the blackboard, and the bunny threw that eraser—where do you think? No, not at the Lady Mouse Teacher—of course not! But the bunny threw the eraser right in the face of the Fuzzy Fox who, just then, poked his sharp nose in the open window.

"There! Take that, Mr. Fox!" cried the rabbit. "You tried to slip in while I was telling the story so you might nibble my ears. But I'll show you how that boy threw things in the dark! Like that!"

"Whizz!" Uncle Wiggily tossed another eraser at the Fox. "Zing!" it hit the bad chap on the nose.

"Wowchie! Zowchie!" howled the Fox, and away he ran holding his paw on his sore nose.

"Ha! Ha! Ha!" laughed the animal children in the Hollow Stump School. Then Uncle Wiggily finished telling the story.

"What the boy thought were fiery eyes staring at him," said the bunny, "were only some cute twin lightning bugs dancing. And when the boy found this out he never again was afraid in the dark." And if the roller skate doesn't try to run over the paper of pins and get its wheels all sticky I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the hazel nuts.

Aqueduct Water Going To Waste In New 'War'

In a telegram asking for troops to disperse the raiders, Sheriff Collins said:

"Approximately 100 citizens have opened the Los Angeles aqueduct waste gates and are spilling the water of the aqueduct into Owens river. They are standing guard over the head gate and resisting all efforts to close it. All efforts to disperse the party have failed. Confident the party will disperse and bloodshed be averted only by arrival of state troops, I urge that troops be sent immediately. Location of party five miles north of Lone Pine."

Governor Richardson was reported today on his way to Sacramento, where he will confer with state officials regarding the situation at Lone Pine.

Prepare for Seige

According to reports here from Inyo county, tents were erected during the night by the raiding party and truckloads of food and supplies were being rushed to the "valley avengers." Fresh recruits were also reported arriving at the head gate site to join the original party which seized the aqueduct.

At Independence, county seat of Inyo county, lawyers representing Los Angeles, demanded a court injunction to oust the raiders and to prevent them from interfering with this city's water supply.

Up to Governor, Says State Adjutant-General

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17.—State Adjutant-General Mittelstaedt had not received any word from Governor Richardson late this morning regarding the dispatch of state troops to guard the Los Angeles aqueduct in the Owens valley country, according to a statement to International News Service.

"It is up to the governor," General Mittelstaedt said. "I understand he is on his way to Sacramento and that when he arrives there he will probably take any necessary steps in connection with the proper protection of the aqueduct."

Maximum 400 Second Feet, Says Diederich

Denial that over 2000 second feet of water are pouring out of the Los Angeles aqueduct into the Owens river because angered farmers of the section opened the spillway is made by Peter Diederich, superintendent of plant and production for the city of Glendale.

This aqueduct was built for a maximum of 400 second feet, he states, and not even that much is now coming out. The stories of the gravity of the situation are greatly exaggerated, in his opinion. The waters stored in the reservoirs, which are sufficient to supply the city of Los Angeles for three months, are not running away, Mr. Diederich explains, but only the relatively small amount of incoming water from a feeder stream.

It is to protect Los Angeles and all of Southern California from the shortage that will result after 1933 that the Boulder Canyon dam project is now being pushed, he states. Mr. Diederich returned Saturday afternoon with Virgil B. Stone, city manager, from a session at Pomona with engineers from all points south of Tehachapi, when many legal and engineering features of this great proposed dam and aqueduct were discussed. A flow of 1500 second feet of water would be obtained, he states, and the dam and aqueduct, combined, would cost not less than $150,000,000 to build.

FROM EAGLE ROCK

EAGLE ROCK, Nov. 17.—All bids for construction of the local sewer system have been rejected and the city of Los Angeles is advertising again. There can be no action now until the middle of December, it is said, and those in close touch with the situation do not believe work will be started before the new year.

The lowest three bids were all under the city engineers' estimate, that of Martin Petrovich, or "Mike Miller" as he is known in engineering circles, being below the estimate laid out by the city to the extent of $30,000. Owing to the fact that, following careful investigation, the city engineer feared that the work could not possibly be completed up to specifications at the amount quoted, $146,990, Mr. Milller lost the contract. From the check made on the cost of materials it appeared that the bid would little more than cover costs on the job.

A bazaar is planned for December 6 by the women of the Rockdale P.-T. A. Dinner will be served from 5:30 until 7:30 o'clock, announces Mrs. Raymond, chairman of the ways and means committee.

While firemen worked frantically to secure a water connection Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Wicks watched their home at 4935 Annandale boulevard burn to ashes. The water had been cut off from that section, presumably while connections were being made on the new water mains.

W. P. Ball and wife of Rockland avenue are entertaining Mr. Ball's mother and sister from Canada. They arrived Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Stark and son, William, of Rockland avenue, have left for Imperial Valley by auto, for ten days.

The American Legion auxiliary will have a cooked food sale at the Eagle Rock Furniture and Hardware store on Saturday, November 22. An innovation will be the sale of home-made sandwiches, doughnuts and coffee at the door during lunch hour.

Mrs. J. E. Donnell of Windemere avenue will entertain the Women's Bible class of the Presbyterian church at her home next Wednesday, November 19.

Atwater Church Holds Evangelistic Meeting

Evangelical services both afternoon and night are scheduled for this week at the Atwater Park Baptist church tent revival. Under the direction of Evangelist H. H. MacArthur and Rev. Grant Nelson, pastor, large crowds are being attracted. Meetings are at 2:30 and 7:30 o'clock daily except Sundays. In the afternoons chalk talks for boys and girls are given. Evening services are for the young and old. Revivals are under the auspices of the Children's Evangelical union of all churches co-operating with the Atwater Baptist church.

TUJUNGA NOTES

TUJUNGA, Nov. 17.—An amendment to eliminate the board of directors of the Tujunga Chamber of Commerce, up for vote at hte meeting last week, was not only lost, but strayed and badly abused. After receiving the attention of those opposed to it the proposition was unrecognizable, declared out of order and hustled into the discard. Business of brushing the hands of it in good riddance, as interpreted by the winning group of members of the chamber. Two hundred members were present. The amendment, which proposed to do away with directors and delegate their powers to members in open meetings had caused considerable interest to be aroused.

Election of five directors was relegated to second place in importance in favor of the more agitating amendment and was accomplished with less debate. Men elected to fill the expiring terms were: H. H. Breidt, Ed Forster, Mr. Conway, Mr. Brooks and Mr. Kautz. Russell, Gilmer, Parcher and Baughman were "also rans."

A motion by H. N. Fowler of Verdugo City was carried. He proposed to have a committee appointed by the president of the Tujunga chamber to work with other committees of the Verdugo hills districts to make plans for the future political destiny of the section. Five men will be appointed to this committee and will make their report with the other committees within sixty days. Mr. Fowler enumerated the methods of procedure as: annexation to the city of Glendale, annexation to Los Angeles or incorporation into a self-governing municipality. Mention of incorporation aroused the banked fires of the antis, who were mollified by assurances from Mr. Fowler that he was not agitating incorporation particularly, merely working for the benefit of the territory, whatever form it may take.

A resolution opposing the establishment of a rock crushing plant in Haines canyon was adopted. The rock crusher has been indorsed by the Tujunga Valley Realty board and the Valley Center Improvement league. Opposition to the plant was led at the chamber meeting by John F. Knox of Glendale, who owns property in the northeast of Tujunga.

An amendment raising the dues of membership from $1 to $10 was made and will be voted upon at the next meeting. M. F. Gilmer offered this proposition.

Building of a rock crushing plant in Haines canyon was approved at the last meeting of the Valley Center Improvement league. The plant was urged as an aid in flood control and economic importance to the community in building homes and other structures where products of such a plant are used. A. D. Kirschman was appointed to fill a vacancy on the advisory board of the Tujunga-Sunland fire protection district.

At the last meeting of the Kiwanis club a set of table silver was presented to Carroll W. Parcher, secretary, whose marriage to Miss Frances Morgan took place recently. Mr. and Mrs. Parcher went on a brief honeymoon trip to Santa Barbara. They will soon be at home to their friends in a new residence in the Gem of Tujunga tract near Michigan avenue.

Needle work and toys in wide variety are being prepared by members of the American Legion Auxiliary for their bazaar to be held November 28 and 29. Members in charge of different departments are: fancy work and aprons, Mrs. William Gale; candy, Mrs. Krone and Dr. Bates; toys, Mrs. Gilmer and Mrs. Hill; decorations, Mrs. Kellar.

Short educational talks on child training have been arranged for the next meeting of the Tujunga Parent-Teacher association, November 19.

A "500" supper was enjoyed by thirty-five guests recently at the home of Misses Flora and Anna Tarpley, East Michigan avenue. Six tables were conducted and a delicious supper served.

TUJUNGA, Calif., Nov. 17.—"Singing" Jimmie Smith and his portable organ accompanied twenty-five delegates from the Tujunga Kiwanis club to the district convention of Kiwanis clubs held at Santa Barbara.

Delivery of the new fire engine for the Tujunga-Sunland district is expected before the first of December. The engine and siren alarm are understood to be in Los Angeles where the engine is being fitted with special attachments for the work in the hills districts. Fire Chief Harry Rice is on a trip to Oklahoma and is expected to return in two weeks. A lease has been taken by the county on a building at 126 South Cedar street where temporary fire fighting headquarters will be maintained until permanent quarters will be located on property on El Centro street between Sunset boulvard and San Ysidro street, where the county owns a lot suitable for the purpose. Present plans call for a fire-proof engine house, 25 by 30 feet, with living quarters for the firemen.

Earl C. Brunner, jeweler, formerly of Glendale, has announced the date of opening his new store on Sunset boulevard for today. Removal from the old quarters in the bank building is now being made and a larger stock of goods procured for the new store, which is located in a new brick block south of the theatre.

William White of Calgary has been visiting Leo L. Lang of Tujunga and spending an extended vacation in Southern California.

Twenty-five paintings are now on exhibition at the Laurr Sweet studio. Members of the Sagebrushers Art club are the exhibitors and extend an invitation to everyone to visit the studio and inspect their work.

Mrs. Leon Harvey has left for an extended visit with relatives in New York, where her sister is to be married in January. A complimentary farewell party was given Mrs. Harvey by the local American Legion and Auxiliary.

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, Calif., Nov. 17.—J. D. Radcliff and son, Edward Radcliff, of 435 Angeleno avenue, has returned from a trip to Arizona. They made the trip by automobile and report a fine time while away.

Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Wolf and Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Jones recently arrived here from Medford, Oregon, and are making their home at 502 Verdugo avenue.

Mrs. L. F. Lee of Enid, Oklahoma, with her two sons, R. L. Lee and Robert Lee, arrived here recently and they have leased a bungalow in the Santa Anita court. They expect to spend the winter here. The younger son, Robert, has entered the Burbank High school.

A strong committee has been created to forward the movement to make San Fernando boulevard a state highway. This committee cmoprises A. Z. Taft, Jr., of Burbank, C. M. Conant of Dundee, and S. G. Chamberlain of San Fernando.

San Fernando boulevard is recognized as a through highway but is not a state nor a county highway, lying within several municipalities, mostly Los Angeles. The committee was created to get it into a definite status, and more easily handle the matter of its widening and repaving, from a financial standpoint, making it a state project.

Mrs. L. I. Mulvey, local Red Cross chairman, has started the 1925 membership drive in this organization.

Walter C. Fisher, who has been in Chicago for some time, has returned.

Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Friend of 709 Magnolia avenue have returned from Venice.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Anderson of 915 Angeleno avenue have left on a hunting trip to Ensenada, Lower California. They joined a party of friends from Los Angeles and will make the trip by automobile.. They will be away a week or more.

Mrs. C. B. Zorn of Hollywood has arrived here to spend the week-end at the home of Mrs. P. S. Clayton of 637 Verdugo avenue. Mrs. Clayton and Mrs. Zarn are old-time friends and were formerly neighbors in Missouri.

Mr. and Mrs. Cloyd Offill of Western avenue, who went to Memphis, Tennessee, two months ago with the intention of remaining there for the winter, have returned here.

BURBANK, Nov. 17.—The City Trustees have instituted condemnation proceedings against the property near Verdugo avenue, where an abrupt turn puts a kink in the proposed Victory boulevard. This action was taken on recommendation of A. J. Rose, city engineer.

Henry Radcliff, who has been in the White Memorial hospital in Los Angeles following injuries received when his automobile was struck by the Southern Pacific train Sunday morning, November 9, has sufficiently recovered to be removed to his home on Santa Anita avenue. He is still confined to his bed, however, it is reported, because of bruises and the nervous shock. His son, Travis Radcliff, who suffered a scalp wound in the accident is able to be about.

Francis Mossman and his two companions, J. Farnsworth and Claude Penwell, are reported to be prospecting for oil on the desert near Lancaster.

More than half a hundred attended the Shrine banquet given Wednesday night at the Sunset Canyon Country club. A number of members of the Hollywood Shrine were guests. An elaborate dinner was served in courses and Miss Christine Krum entertained charmingly with a group of violin selections.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schimbeckler of Fort Wayne, Indiana, are expected here shortly to visit with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wolfangle, of 450 Cypress avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Hunter and family of San Jose avenue moved recently to Lancaster, where they are on a ranch.

MONTROSE NOTES

MONTROSE, Nov. 17.—With a membership of forty-one mothers, the new P.-T. A. of Montrose held an encouraging first meeting at the Montrose schoolhouse recently with Mrs. C. A. Rienhard, president, in the chair A Thanksgiving program by the members of the school opened with a song by the first and second grades. Indian dance was given by the boys and third and fourth grade girls gave a Puritan maiden number. "The Thanksgiving Turkey," a playlet, was well done by fifth grade pupils, who also sang Thanksgiving songs.

Mrs. Henry of Glendale spoke and members felt she added a great deal to their working knowledge of P.-T. A. work, particularly the reading circle work, as Mrs. Henry is the director of the Glendale P.-T. A. reading circle. Tea and cakes were served at the conclusion of the meeting by Mesdames A. Wetmore, T. O. Potts and A. Giese. Officers of the baby organization are: President, Mrs. C. J. Reinhard; first vice president, Mrs. G. Fredericks; second vice-president, Mrs. Clyde Sanderson; secretary, Mrs. H. Simpson; treasurer, Mrs. R. Newman; historian, Mrs. G. Skinner. Committee chairmen are: Mrs. P. T. Potts on membership; entertainment, Mrs. A. Wetmore and Mrs. A. Giese; philanthropy, Mrs. C. Fraser; publicity, Mrs. C. Eyre. Meetings are to be held every second Friday of the month in the Montrose schoolhouse and every mother in that district is invited.

Kansas City Doctor Invents New Truss

New Discovery Heals Rupture Without An Operation.

A new discovery which, experts agree, has no equal for curative effects in all rupture cases, is the latest accomplishment of the well-known Hernia Specialist, Dr. Andrews, 5978 Koch Bldg., Kansas City, Mo. It has enabled hundreds of persons to throw away trusses and declare their rupture absolutely healed. Many of these had serious double ruptures, from which they had suffered for years. It is Dr. Andrews' ambition to have every ruptured person enjoy the quick relief, comfort and healing power of his discovery, and he will send it on free trial to any reader of The News who writes him. He wants one person in each neighborhood to whom he can refer. If you wish to be rid of rupture for good, without an operation, take advantage of the doctor's free offer. Write him today. SENATORS OF WEST HOLD POWER

New England Rule In Upper Branch To Be Thing Of Past Next Year

By ROBERT T. SMALL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Now that Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, is to become chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations, the ascendancy of the west in the august upper branch of Congress is almost complete.

The smallest of the western states have come to wield the greatest influence in the affairs of the nation and indirectly in the affairs of the world.

"New England rule," so far as the Senate of the United States is concerned, is a thing of the past. "The elder statesmen" from that little but powerful section of the country, one by one have passed beyond and the west, keeping its worth men steadily in office, has come forward to gain the big committee posts.

From Small State

Senator Borah hails from a state which casts but four electoral votes—next to the smallest of any state in the nation. Not only is Senator Borah to head foreign relations, but his position of rank and seniority in the Senate would entitle him to head the committee on the judiciary and the committee on education and labor. The latter two committees will have to go to others, for naturally the gentleman from Idaho cannot be congressional poohbah and his desire is to be the guiding genius of foreign relations so far as these relations may be shaped by the ratifying branch of Congress.

Senator Francis E. Warren, of Wyoming, another state which casts but three electoral votes because of its exceedingly sparse population, is the head of the powerful Senate committee on appropriations. Second to him on that committee is Senator Reed Smoot of Utah, a state which casts four votes.

Senator Smoot also is chairman of the finance committee, which shapes the tariff and is regarded by many as the most important committee on the entire Senate list.

Others Turn West

Idaho, Utah and Wyoming, lying atop and beyond the Rocky Mountains, casting a total of eleven electoral votes, less than one-fourth the vote of New York, virtually held the Senate in their hands.

But there is more of the west. Senator Curtis of Kansas, is head of the rules committee. Norris, of Nebraska, is head of the committee on agricultural; Wesley Jones of Washington, is head of the committee on commerce. Johnson of California is going to top the committee on immigration, and a fine chance an Oriental will have to break through his guard. LaFollette heads the committee on manufactures; Smoot of Utah regains seniority on the committee on pensions, but like Borah of Idaho, he can't very well hold all the committees to which he is entitled.

About the only committees of any importance whatever retained by the east are military affairs, with Senator Jimmie Wadsworth of New York, as chairman; naval affairs, with Freddie Hale of Maine as chairman, and postoffice and post roads, which will be headed by Senator Moses of New Hampshire, who will get the chairmanship because Senator Moses is a small state man, New Hampshire rating along in the four vote class.

Big States Left

And what of the other big states besides New York? Illinois has nothing. Pennsylvania has the "committee of library" headed by George Wharton Pepper. Indiana has the chairmanship of the committee on enrolled bills, if anyone outside of Washington knows what that means. Senator Jim Watson of Indiana is the august chairman. New Jersey has the committee on inter-oceanic canal at Panama, has had but little to do. Walter Edge is the chairman. Illinois rated the committee on expeditures in the executive departments in the present Senate, but Senator Medill McCormick will not be among those present after March 4 next.

So far as the Senate of the United States is concerned, the old proverb of the tail wagging the dog is just about to come true, so far as the voting power and population of the states in the saddle are concerned. But when it comes to brains—well, that is something else again.

EDUCATION WEEK UNDER WAY

PATRIOTISM PLEA OF LEGION POST

Wholehearted Spirit Urged By Commander Glendale Veterans' Post

By J. A. WILSON,
Commander, Glendale Post No. 127, American Legion.

Wholehearted American patriotism is as vital to the life of the nation today as during the recent war period. It is not given to all to occupy niches of prominence like the patriots of history, but it is within the grasp of all to live patriotic lives. The highest type of patriotism is marked by service—service to the country and to humanity.

The American Legion believes that the schools of today are direct agents for the creation of patriotism. For this reason we unite with the school authorities of Glendale in observance of American Education week. To set forth the attitude of the American Legion toward national loyalty I can best quote from the American Legion handbook on Americanism:

Handbook Quoted

"The men of the Legion having followed the flag of free government in the military service, are continuing their work for free government in times of peace. They have become aware of an enemy of liberty and popular government more deadly and more insidious than the armed forces of Prussian militarism. This enemy is ignorance. It is more widespread in America than Americans realize. It threatens the very soul of popular government; for the essence of popular government is the carrying out of the will of the people, and there can be no intelligent expression of the will of the people save through understanding and intelligence. Free popular government is based on the literacy of the citizenship that maintains it; how can a citizen unable to read and write be expected to cast a well considered vote?

"Ours is a wide country in physical extent; with mountains and seaboard slopes and great interior plains; with a northern and southern climate; with great sections devoted to industry and great sections devoted to agriculture; with all the opposing influences in the interest and conditions of humanity that a continent can provide.

Two Great Potencies

"Yet two great potencies are shared in common by all the inhabitants of this great country and serve to bind them in strong union of the spirit. These two great factors are the language and the flag. The community of thought and action established by possession of the same language is the great guardian of unity. Our flag is the symbol of the spirit of America. Our language is the expression of the spirit of America. The two together must be maintained if America endures.

"Our flag above all the schools, therefore, one language in all the schools, the flag and the language of America, must be the American ideal. So long as the one flag flies for the signal of our high endeavors, so long as the one language is maintained for the expression of our ideals and ideas, there will be a strong unity in this nation that cannot be overthrown."

Average working week for skilled labor in Germany now is 51 hours and for unskilled is 54.

Proclamation

American Education Week is to be observed nationwide from November 17 to 23 under the sponsorship of the American Legion, the United States Bureau of Education, and the National Education association.

Vastly to its credit, the American Legion five years ago conceived the plan of setting aside such a week, when public attention might be brought to bear on the vital part played by education in the life of the nation; a part productive of enlightenment, with its outcome the making of efficient and patriotic citizens in the broadest sense that America may build for herself a lasting greatness.

But, the task of education is not ended. The World war revealed startling conditions of illiteracy, physical defects, vocational misplacement and un-Americanism. United in purpose, the National Education association, the United States Bureau of Education and the American Legion now seek to remove these ills, and to arouse a heightened public conscience to the value of education in a democracy.

That the youth of today may serve as fitting citizens tomorrow, we must strive for a wider dissemination of education; we must support our schools, and we must sustain an interest in education based on an understanding of the actual work of the school.

Now, Therefore, I, Spencer Robinson, Mayor of the city of Glendale, believing in the high destiny of education, do designate the week of November 17 to 23 for the observance of American Education Week in this city, and recommend that every citizen visit the schools during this week and co-operate with the local American Legion Post and the school authorities in furthering the cause of education.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand this seventeenth day of November, 1924.

SPENCER ROBINSON.

Safety Rules Should Be Observed by Public

By BETTY WEBSTER
Doran Street School, Grade "A"

The rules for safety should be observed by pedestrians as well as motorists. At all times people should look carefully when crossing the street. Also they should remember to cross at corners only and not in the middle of the block. Parents should guard their children and prevent them from playing in the streets.

People should observe the traffic rules and regulations as well as motorists. Traffic officers have tried to take care of the children when going to school by putting signs near the school buildings.

Not enough drivers pay sufficient attention to the rules and regulations of driving. The motorists should take more heed of the rules and drive more slowly as the traffic officers are trying to make them do now. Drivers of motor vehicles of all kinds should be sane and responsible, always ready to practice consideration, caution and courtesy. Remember that A. B. C. slogan always.

Illiteracy Is Explained And Reasons Given

By VIRGIL DAVIS
Glendale Avenue School "A-7-I"

Illiteracy! What does that word mean to you? When you hear it do you think of the thousands of people that cannot read or write?

There are several reasons for illiteracy. One of them is that many people had to work when they were small, and did not want to bother about an education when they were older. These people are probably sorry now that they did not get an education when they had a chance.

In the United States we have established night schools and also schools for the blind. The difficulty is that many people will not attend night school. In Glendale there are about eighty-five illiterates. Very few of them attend night school.

We are proud to say that Glendale is the fastest growing city in America. Let us also be able to say it has the lowest percentage of illiterates of any city in America.

Colorado Onion Crop Way Above Last Year

DENVER, Nov. 17.—Colroado onion crop will approximate 1,040,000 bushels, or 60 per cent above that of 1923. Harvesting is nearing completion.

Thrift Advocated by Pacific Avenue Pupil

By ROY BROWN
Pacific Avenue School, "A" Fifth.

Thrift is a habit of saving and economy. One should save a part of all he earns. The American people spend too much for pleasure. Every child should have a bank account, and gave a little money each week. The people in Europe live a very simple life and eat plain food. The American people should learn to do the same.

One who is thrifty and saving while he is young will have money to pay for his needs when he becomes old and not strong enough to work. Henry Ford is the richest man in the United States. He began life as a poor boy, but he was thrifty and invested his savings in a good business. The poor houses are filled with people who did not practice thrift and economy.

Benjamin Franklin was one of the first great men to practice and preach thrift. The thrifty people are the best citizens in every city, and are rspectd and admired by all who know them. President Coolidge is a fine example of a thrifty man.

Physical Education Is Urged to Be Practiced

By JIM RHODES
Glendale Avenue School, "B" 8th

Physical education should be practiced in all the schools throughout the world. It means health and better studies for the school children.

America probably practices physical education in the schools more than any other country or nation in the world. They believe in better studies and health and they try to make the schools a pleasure for the children of the United States.

They have also taken a great step in America for physical education in the schools and homes to make better home work. In some cities they have "recreation centers" for the tired business men.

These are some of the reasons why I believe we should have physical education in the schools and in the homes of all the people. I believe that Glendale should have a civic center, for it would help in physical education.

Wife Dismisses Suit, Husband Wins Decree

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17.—Twenty minutes after his wife, Mrs. Dorothy Baldwin Gilcreest, former New York society matron, had dismissed her action for divorce on the grounds of cruelty, Dr. Edgar L. Gilcreest, professor of surgery at the University of California, filed suit charging desertion. The case was immediately taken before Superior Judge Griffin and a decree granted the physician.

Man Dumps His Wife On Mother's Doorstep

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 17.—"I am tired of you and going to dump you on your mother's doorstep. That's where you belong."

That was a threat and a promise which was fulfilled by Alvin Jimmie Mau, according to the complaint for separate maintenance filed in the superior court today by Ida Mau, who married him July 18 of this year. Their last fight occurred October 31.

Warm Weather Places Coal Buying Damper

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 17.—Unseasonably warm weather has kept retail coal moving extremely slow. The slow demand for domestic grades has caused mine operators to reduce output.

PREACHER LAUDS TEACHERS' WORK

Rev. Calderwood Points To Their Part Explaining Constitution

By REV. C. M. CALDERWOOD
Pastor First Congregational Church

The Constitution of the United States is one of the greatest documents ever struck off the mind of man. We honor our flag because it is the symbol of the liberties, rights and safety guaranteed by the Constitution.

The safeguard of our country is its Constitution. Without it we might easily and quickly blunder because of the whims and prejudices of the people or of Congress. It puts obstacles, not in the way of the people's will, but of their whims. It directs and guides and protects us in all our legislation. The Constitution is as essential to the ship of state as a rudder is to a ship sailing on the seas.

Check Is Needed

We need to be checked by the Constitution and the Supreme court to interpret it. We have been saved many times from iniquitous legislation by these agencies. James Russell Lowell said of the framers of our Constitution "they recognized fully the value of tradition and habit as the great allies of permanence and stability. They had a distaste for innovation which belonged to the race."

"Our Constitution was the creation of the people of our country over a century ago, but they did not tie our hands. We can add to or subtract from, but it must be done slowly and deliberately.

"The bulwark of our country's best interests is our Constitution and the safeguard of the Constitution is our public schools. The protection of our country's interests and its Constitution is the protection afforded by an intelligent and morally responsible youth.

Teachers Serve

"Thus it is that our teachers in the public schools are rendering an invaluable service in teaching the perpetuation of the noblest traditions and in training the youth in an intellectual comprehension of patriotic responsibilities.

"To preserve our government we must preserve an active and keen intelligence together with an energetic tone of morals. Without these, laws become a nullity and the Constitution a "scrap of paper." The restraint exercised by the Constitution must have the backing of an intelligent, moral and religious people."

FAVORABLE TRADE BALANCE IS SEEN

Report Excess of Exports Over Imports Larger Than Last Year

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The United States had a $671,740,000 favorable balance of trade in the ten months ending November 1, the department of commerce has announced. The same period last year gave only a $126,915,000 excess of exports over imports.

Imports for the ten months amounted to $2,979,000,000, against $3,212,000,000 in 1923, while the exports were $3,651,000,000, compared to $3,339,000,000 last year.

Imports of gold in the ten months' period were $289,584,000, against $250,317,000 in 1923, while exports were $15,284,000 and $27,185,000, respectively.

Policeman Asks $5,000 When Dog Attacks Him

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 17.—M. A. Scott, Los Angeles motorcycle officer, today filed suit against Mr. and Mrs. Morris Glick, residents of South Hoover street, alleging the Glicks kept a vicious dog with the habit of chasing vehicles. It did not distinguish between messenger boys and motorcycle officers.

Recently Scott had occasion to patrol Hoover street. The dog tried to take a bite out of his leather puttees, missed its mark, rolled under the wheel of Scott's steed and things began to happen. The dog died the death of a rag doll, Scott took a nasty spill and lost his left thumb nail. That among other injuries forms the basis for his suit. He asks $5000 damages.

Movie Star Learns How New York Keeps Warm

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 17.—Corrine Griffith has returned from the chillblains of New York with a discovery relative to women's clothing, or rather their lack of it, she explained today. Inquiring of a doctor how thin little stenographers of Gotham were able to wear flimsy dresses on the coldest days, he explained that the number of veins and arteries are the same in both the fat and thin. Fleshy people have more to keep warm, and therefore, wear more clothes, while the wiry person naturally keeps warm.

VISIT SCHOOLS IS SLOGAN FOR WEEK

Closer Relations Between Parents And Classes Specially Urged

"Visit your schools today" is one of the slogans of American Education Week now being observed. Believing that a closer relationship should be maintained between home and school a general invitation has been extended to the public by Richardson D. White, superintendent of city schools, and George U. Moyse, superintendent of the high school district, in the hope that the public will carry out the thought of the slogan.

Bearing on this matter of school visiting by parents the Bureau of Education, at Washington, D. C., recently issued an Educational Letter which states in part:

"The effectiveness of the schools of a community depends largely upon the interest that the parents take in them. In a community where parents visit the schools, become acquainted with the teachers and learn all that they can about the conditions under which the teachers and pupils work, there are likely to be better schools than in the community where no parent ever steps inside the schoolhouse door."

Answers to Queries

There is a common query, this publication goes on to state, regarding what specific benefits may result from school visits. The question is answered, it is believed, with the list of suggestions which follow. This list was compiled from replies to questionnaires addressed to 50 city school superintendents.

Information Parents Should Seek in Visiting Schools:

What parents can do to help the schools.

Whether any bad habits have been noted in pupils.

What is the general school success of the child?

Are the teachers' salaries adequate?

What are the qualifications demanded of the teaching force?

General policies of the school department.

Specific facts about parents' own children.

Per capita cost as compared with that of other cities.

Whether the child is working up to his full capacity as determined by intelligence and educational tests.

What are the vocational tendencies of the child if any are manifest?

Purposes of the various courses of study.

Reasons for making or not making changes in course of study.

Finances of school district, tax rate, indebtedness, etc.

Is pupil in course best suited to his capacity and needs?

Does pupil show any special aptitudes; disabilities?

Is pupil courteous and helpful?

Does pupil enter into a sufficient number of student activities?

What provisions are made for backward and for superior children?

Japs Vote $5,000,000 For Aviation Supplies

TOKIO, Nov. 17.—The finance department today approved estimates aggregating 10,000,000 yen ($5,000,000) for new aviation and military equipment for the next fiscal year.

The department, however, cut down demands of the army and navy for additional appropriations and reduced the total of 270,000,000 yen demanded by all departments of the government 40,000,000 yen. A cabinet fight looms when the budget comes up for final approval.

WOMEN PLAN TO FOLLOW TEXAS

Will Put Own Candidate In Race For Governor Of State In 1926

By L. C. OWEN
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17.—California may shortly afford the rest of the nation the unique political spectacle of its female voting strength arraigned in a solid rank against the male of the species. Not only that but should the threatened political clash of sexes materialize it is probable that women folk may come out on the top side.

It is all because of recent contagious example of Wyoming and Texas in electing women governors. Now women of California want the same thing. What is more, they have started right to get it. Already in their plans for their governorship the women folk have brought forth the names of seven members of their sex as tentative candidates. Not to be outdone the men seemingly with intention of overawing the threatened opposition into believing they haven't a chance, have duplicated the women's list with seven candidates of their own. So far, however, the women have not been overawed by it.

Leading the list of proposed women candidates for gubernatorial honors various women's organizations have already put forth is the name of Mrs. Nellie Brewer Pierce, woman lawyer and tax expert, who as financial head of the state board of control a year ago lopped off twelve millions of California Biennial ninety-three million dollar budget.

Strong Candidate

Even male politicians admit that Mrs. Pierce is a formidable candidate. Anybody who cuts down taxes endears himself to the taxpayers and tax reduction is always an important issue in California gubernatorial campaigns. Few, if any, men, the males admit, understand tax problems like Mrs. Pierce. Also her record as state financial head answers any objection from the sterner sex that a woman governor would be ruled by sentiment and not by practicality.

With true political acumen, however, the women folk are not putting all their eggs in one basket. If Mrs. Pierce should not loom strong enough to carry off the governorship they have an "ace in the hole" to fall back upon in the person of Mrs. Anna B. Saylor, state assembly woman for six years and a very practical politician. Mrs. Saylor, it is conceded, would give any male candidate for the governorship a hard fight for she has long had the backing of Hiram Johnson and the state political machine and is strongly endorsed by the labor vote.

Other potential women candidates for gubernatorial honors include such prominent club and welfare workers as Mrs. Parker Maddox, president of San Francisco women's civic center. Mrs. Huzette Chalmers, head of the Oakland business and professional women's club and Mrs. E. C. Bellows, president of the Los Angeles women's city club, all with strong followings among women's organizations throughout the state.

Men Have Hopes

And the women are overlooking no bets in their first essay at "big time" politics. Solidifying women's vote and getting them to hang together with an unbroken front for the fair sex candidate finally chosen, is their big job. Toward this end they are taking a leaf out of the book of experienced male politicians by starting early. The governorship election is still almost two years away—but not too far away, say feminine political leaders, to start building political fences.

It is the solid women's vote, or rather the lack of it, however, upon which the male politicians pin their hopes of keeping the lady governor out of the California state house. On the strength of state registration, wherein sixty per cent of all registered voters are women, and on the showing November 4 when 68 per cent of the million and a quarter voters that went to the polls were women, the males admit they haven't much chance—if the women stand together.

It is in "standing together"—agreeing unitedly on their best candidate—that the California first women's party is expected to fail. The old contention that no two women can agree on anything still holds good, say their male political rivals. Likewise they forecast that when the representatives of 800,000 women voters get together to try to agree on a candidate the first call will be for the all handy police reserves.

A Clock That Is Different

YOU'VE HEARD of individuals who watch the clock, but did you ever hear of a Clock watching the INDIVIDUAL?

The Coin Controlled Clock, pictured above, does just this. It is the "watch-dog" of its owner's future—seeing to it that he saves something each day toward a "nest-egg."

And, if the owner does not do this—if he slips up for even a single day—the clock will refuse to serve as a timekeeper until he resumes.

The Coin Controlled Clock

is a builder of successful Savings Accounts. It enables those to save who never before found it possible. And it enables them to save in an easy, sure and enjoyable manner.

The Coin Clock keeps excellent time for twenty-four hours before rewinding is necessary. Then, before it can be rewound, a coin must be inserted. Thus, the owner is compelled to add something to his savings each succeeding day.

You will want a Coin Clock the instant you see it. It is attractive, a perfect timekeeper, and a credit to the most handsomely appointed home or office. Opening a Savings Account here secures it.

WHITE SOX LOSE THRILLING GAME

Lefty Ross Hurls Pasadena Merchants to Victory In Pitchers' Duel

Lefty Ross and Lindemore, a couple of Coast league players with the Pasadena Merchants during the winter season, proved too much for the Glendale White Sox yesterday and Lorin Ury and his gang went back to the Crown City with their revenge satisfied. Ross and Jack Emerson, who generally play left field or first base for the locals, hooked up in a pitchers' duel, with Ross getting the edge.

Lindemore started things in the first when he drove out a single after NcNabb was safe on Reese's error and G. Hass had singled. Lindemore's drive scored McNabb. In the sixth inning Lindemore drove one over the right field fence for the only extra base bingle of the day.

Emerson surprised the fans with his hurling. He held the Merchants to five hits, two of them being poled by G. Haas and three by Lindemore. O'Brien robbed Lindemore of another hit in the third inning when he made a sensational running catch of the Coast leaguer's drive.

Snappy Double Plays

Two snappy double plays livened up the game. Glendale pulled one in the first inning and Pasadena chalked up the other in the seventh. Pfahler to Reese to Kershtein caught Lindemore and E. Haas in the opening frame, and Ross to Lindemore to Cline caught Shields and Whaling in the seventh.

O'Brien, playing left field for Glendale, made two running catches and fielded 1.000. Pfahler did the heavy hitting, getting two singles, a sacrifice and a strikeout in four trips to the plate. Dorman laid down a bunt and beat the throw in the third.

Dan O'Leary, 84-year-old world walking champion, circled the bases twelve times in nine minutes forty-two seconds. His exhibition was put on before the game and the veteran was accorded a rousing reception.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—A reorganization of the St. Louis Browns is reported to be George Sisler's plan, as he is convinced he cannot win a pennant with the team as it now stands.

Shocker, a pitcher with a disposition that is perfectly good when he is not crossed, but who has a mind of his own, is one of the players that St. Louis seems ready to pass on if they can get as good a pitcher in return.

Williams, McManus and Severeid are also reported to be on the market if there are any clubs willing to go high enough for them. Williams is a left fielder and something of a hitter, McManus a second baseman and Severeid a catcher.

They make up a vital part of the St. Louis team, but Sisler is reputed to feel that they are not so amenable to his management as others might be.

It has generally been believed that there was a ring within a ring on the St. Louis team. Not all of the players have been convinced that Sisler was as good a manager as he is a first baseman. This probably lies at the bottom of the plans for reorganization.

Stories of dissatisfaction began cropping up in the 1924 spring training season. The players however, hid any such feeling from outsiders, if they had it, and talked more than anything else about their hope that Sisler's eyesight would be as good as before his illness.

Later there were two or three on the team who were inclined to be pessimistic and to criticize some of the things that happened. This, however, is not so unusual.

Another thing that may be influencing the Brown management in making changes is the players put on the market are high salaried men. The club owners may not feel that they are getting their money's worth out of these high priced stars. Were St. Louis to go out and try to buy players who would prove as useful to the team, it would take a large outlay of money. But if satisfactory trades can be made, a new injection of pep might be shot into the team without great expense. For the men offered are good ball players and should bring good players in return.

Shocker, in particular, ought to be a good trading player. It would be to the advantage of every pennant contender to get him if he has even one more good year in him. Cleveland, Detroit, Washington and New York all might profitably make a place for him.

Report Johnson Has Purchased Oak Club

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17.—Announcement was expected today that Walter Johnson, pitching star of the Washington Americans, and George Weiss, owner of the New Haven club in the Eastern league, have purchased the Oakland baseball club of the Pacific Coast league, it was learned here today. It is understood that the price paid by the Johnson-Weiss partnership is around $300,000.

Johnson and Weiss have been on the coast for several weeks with the object of buying a ball club. It has been rumored several times that they would purchase the Oakland club but up to today nothing definite was known. Neither Cal Ewing, president of the Oakland baseball club, nor Del Howard, business manager and next largest stockholder to Ewing, could be reached to confirm the sale.

SPORTDOM ALL OVER

By JOSEPH L. KELLEY
Of The Evening News Staff.

Wow! What revolution the Yale Bulldog caused. Princeton's Tiger figured their enemy in New Haven was going to be as easy as "Silent Cal" figured Davis. And a freeze-out greeted 'em. Tad Jones is like Mexican deputies—never can tell when he's going to start a revolution. Tad had the Bulldog primed for anything up to an invasion by army of soviets. Tiger got surprise party comparable only to one handed in Brookhart's election.

That Nebraskan Nemesis Knute Rockne feared turned out to be blessing in disgust. Big Swede grid mentor thought he'd try out the Cornhuskers in the first quarter Saturday and see if they really spelled NEMESIS. Everything went fine until Huskers stole some of Red Grange thunder and started down field with ball passing the Irish warriors like Al Smith passed Teddy Roosevelt in Manhattan.

But Big Swede fooled 'em. He was trying out some of the scrubs, pinch-hitting for the regular Irishmen. When full-grown Irishmen got into game Corn Huskers looked like La Follette after election. Huskers after making those six points prepared to turn the old town upside down. No chance now.

Irishman couldn't pass up chance to fight. Rockne pulled off sweater and refereed. Ireland made greatest reputation fighting. Don't always have anything to fight about but that doesn't make any difference. If Irishman can't fight he begins to think about his epithet and marker. No fights—no use living.

Woman asks divorce from husband because he hadn't breathed soberly in 31 days. If friend husband can stay unsober for 31 consecutive days wife should strike a medal in his memory, first finding out combination to his safety deposit box, and, by fair means or foul, dictating his last will and wishes. Must be lot of sheckles where unsoberly breaths for 31 consecutive days are wafted.

Another storm and strife asks emancipation from fellow who took her too seriously when you and I were young Maggie, alleging, swearing to and weeping tears over copious words wherein she vowed better half got under bed and refused to come out whenever she had company. What nice little playmates!

But—as Oscar Wilde says—"Marriage is only a habit, anyway."

Looks as though Uncle Sam was going to take all the joy out of New Year's celebration in Frisco. Sam's agents are running the boys ragged up there, trying to find out "how come" all the Scotch in the world is flooding Pacific coast ports. Eighty-five of San Francisco's population already indicted for running Scotch. Won't be enough hard liquor in the Bay City for Santa Claus to christen his bobsleighs.

Boys around Frisco are swearing there ain't no Santa Claus. Can't seem to make Uncle Samuel believe all the Scotch from all the little stills in the world but Scotland should come into their port. New Year's celebration in Frisco will be like Leopold's and Loeb's hilarity in Joliet—every kind of kick but what Santa was asked for.

That there ain't no Santa Claus was found out by one of Texas' contributions to the Hollywood film colony the other day. Texas belle just weaned from fireside had been in Hollywood a week. Over week-end she joined her seventh party. She didn't have much to say. Movie sheik remarked she was quiet. Texas belle came back with—"Well, if I learn as much next week as I did the first in Hollywood, I'll have the floor next Sunday." There ain't no Santa Claus, but—they have a good time in Hollywood, just the same.

RINGSIDE GOSSIP by FAIR PLAY

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Bill Gibson reminds one of the Irishman who laughed heartily upon watching a goat chewing up a shirt on a clothesline, only to let out a roar of rage upon finding it was his own shirt. Recently Gibson caused the suspension of Mike McTigue, world's light-heavy champion, because of Mike's refusal to honor an old contract to meet Gene Tunney.

Next, upon being approached for a match between Gene and Tommy Gibbons, Gibson politely executed an about face, remarking that this is too big an attraction for an indoor club seating a measly 14,000.

Now how in the name of all that is fair is an attraction between Tunney and Gibbons with a synthetic title at stake, too big for indoors and a bout between Champion McTigue and Tunney for a world's title perfectly all right for the indoor club?

A new assistant matchmaker is to be appointed for the Madison Square Garden this week. This move will be made to placate indignant managrs who claim that their boxers are not receiving a chance to show their wares in New York's largest indoor club. Another reason is the boxing commission's new ruling that a matchmaker having no affiliation with boxers be appointed to the position. Tom McCardle and Lew Raymond are named for job.

Have they any affliation with boxers? Well go out and put this question to any fighter you happen to meet.

Fred Fulton, Minnesota plasterer, and Tony Puente, being groomed for a chance at the heavyweight crown, meet tonight at Culver City. Puente has been winning most of his battles by knockouts. Joe Schlocker and Izzy Tanner mix in the semi-windup. Billy Hogan and Johnny Fisk are scheduled for the special spot. Other events are: Mike De Pinto and Nick Antonio, Babe Harris and Champ Monroe, Bud Forrester and Jimmy Gould, and Battling Frank and Bud Garber.

ON THE SANDLOTS

Ernie Haycox hurled Inglewood to a 14-3 victory over Redondo yesterday. He fanned ten and walked four.

Burbank tamed Tom Mix's Wildcats 18-3 yesterday, and on Saturday the Enstrall Tool team lost to Burbank 8-2.

Ventura downed the Pacific Electric crew yesterday at Ventura, 3 to 0. An eighth inning rally by the Ventura team decided the issue.

Gilmore Oil went down to defeat before the hurling of Ross of the St. Louis Giants yesterday, 5 to 2. The Giants got nine hits off Ferdie Schupp, former New York Giant hurler.

The annual election of officers of the Southern California Baseball Managers' association will be held at tonight's meeting.

GRIDIRON SEASON RULED BY UPSETS

Past Week No Exception as Illini, Princeton, Navy, Center Are Beaten

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—This being the age of modern miracles, where Princeton runs up twenty-two first downs on Harvard, then turns around and gets but three against Yale, and Illinois, reputed to have been the best team in the Big Ten, loses to Minnesota, reputed to be one of the weakest, there is but one logical course to pursue:

Match up Notre Dame and the Southwestern Teachers and shoot the roll on the latter. In the natural course of events, the Teachers inevitably must win or forever ruin a continuity of upsets such as no season in gridiron history has known.

The well-known cap was applied to the equally well-known climax on Saturday, when Yale beat Princeton, Minnesota stopped Grange and, perforce, Illinois; Centre college stopped Alabama, Bucknell took the Navy, Penn State tied Penn, Kansas topped Oklahoma, Columbia got a standoff with the Army, and so on, ad infinitum.

Irish Hold Record

The only teams that failed to embarrass the intelligencia were Notre Dame, California, Dartmouth and Stanford, and the writer sees no reason why they should not be rewarded by rating them at the pinnacle of national standing. Of the four named, Notre Dame would seem to deserve the highest ranking on its record alone. It has beaten the Army, Princeton, Georgia Tech, Wisconsin and Nebraska in the order named, and an opponent has yet to make it look close, let alone score a victory or get a tie. Notre Dame and Stanford are the only big timers with records that defy criticism.

As for the others, Yale has played ties with Dartmouth and the Army, California suffered a tie with Washington, so did Pennsylvania with Penn State, Rutgers with Lehigh and Chicago, the new leader of the Big Ten, with Ohio State and Illinois.

Notre Dame, of course, rules the Middle West, and only the rankest kind of an upset can prevent the Irish from stepping through their season without a defeat. They must take on Northwestern and Carnegie Tech on successive Saturdays, and, except for the handicap of being favored by form, should win on the bit.

Nebraska would have been out in front with the rest of them if the Corn Huskers hadn't finished second to Oklahoma, a team that did not make good on its promise in that early second game. The South has no nominal leader, with the defeat of Alabama by Centre, unless the Praying Colonels themselves claim the honor.

CALIFORNIA AND STANFORD READY

Two Undefeated Teams to Enter Fray Saturday To Decide Title

By MILLER HOLLAND
For International News Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17.—Thundering down the home stretch of Pacific Coast conference football this week far in advance of the rest of the field are the two undefeated elevens of Stanford and California, with the Stanford warriors just a bit in front.

For the first time since California and Stanford resumed football relations in 1918, the gridiron teams of these two great traditional rivals have reached their big game without a single defeat chalked up against either of them. Stanford, incidentally, shares honors with Notre Dame in being a team of national importance which has gone through the present season to date without a defeat or a tie.

Next Saturday, in Berkeley, Stanford and California will fight it out between themselves to determine which eleven shall have the honor of being the Pacific Coast conference champion.

Pacific Coast Scores

The games of last week-end were veritable setups for the larger colleges. California trimmed Nevada, 27 to 0; Stanford trounced Montana, 41 to 3; U. S. C. defeated Whittier, 51 to 0, while the Washington Huskies smothered Puget Sound college, 96 to 0.

Other results were: Oregon 7, Washington State 7; Gonzaga 63, Whitman 0; St. Mary's college 42, California Aggies 6; Santa Clara 0, Olympic club of San Francisco 13. Neither Idaho nor the Oregon Aggies played last Saturday.

Ernie Nevers, Stanford's big fullback, was forced to retire in the first quarter of the Stanford-Montana game, because of an old injury which has kept him out of the Cardinal lineup all season. It is feared he may not be able to play in the California game.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

You may write your friends in the east planning to come to California this winter that the pneumonic plague—thirty-six cases all told—has been effectively stamped out in the Mexican district of Los Angeles. It is no more. Governor Richardson has made public a statement giving high praise to the authorities for the immediate and effective action.

Great publicity was given the story of the discovery of the plague. Some newspapers neglected to state that only Mexicans were infected. Indeed, they made out that people here were dying like fleas in a fire. As a result some of your eastern friends have been "skeered."

You people who know all there is to know of the situation from reading this column can assure them that California and Los Angeles and Glendale are healthier places than most of the communities of the east. And the climate here is pleasant the year round.

Surely, they should not postpone coming to California, provided of course, they have the wherewithal.

The writer visited Ventura county over the week-end. There is a coming section of Southern California. It could be considered contiguous to Glendale. You can reach the Ventura seashore in two or three hours by motorcar. It should become a great resort area.

Also, the agricultural possibilities of the Santa Paula valley, the Ojai valley and other sections of that fertile neighbor county have just been touched. There is no question, but that the years will see a sizeable port at Ventura and industries locating there along the coast line of the Southern Pacific.

What Ventura county needs is a vision of its own potentialities. The writer is informed that three stores in the city of Ventura do not advertise because "more business would bother them." Perhaps there will be competition there before many days which will "bother" them.

Business men, ranchers, subdividers of beach property and others interested in the expansion of the Southland will do well to consider Ventura county. Ten years will see wonderful changes to the west of Glendale in the domain lying over the hills.

Los Angeles is faced by a real problem in the Owens river valley. Ranchers there yesterday seized the aqueduct. They overreached themselves, no doubt, yet their act indicates the animosity displayed toward the metropolis.

It would appear that the state could well afford to take charge of the negotiations inasmuch as the city and valley people cannot amicably agree. The fact that sixty irate owners endanger the water supply of more than a million people is sufficient for action on the part of Governor Richardson.

RADIO STORE IS OPENED IN CITY

C. C. Richards, J. A. Hymer Handle Factory-Built Sets Exclusively

Handling factory-built equipment exclusively, the Quality Radio Co. has opened a store at 117 West Broadway, the management consisting of C. C. Richards and J. A. Hymer. The Workrite super-neutrodyne machine will be sold.

Mr. Hymer was for many years connected with the Los Angeles factory of the Workrite Co., the home office being in Cleveland, Ohio. At present he is residing in Los Angeles, but expects to move to Glendale soon. Mr. Hymer is considered an expert on radio matters, and his factory experience will be valuable to Glendale radio fans.

Mr. Richards has been a Glendale resident for a number of years, and will have with him in the store his son, Jess Richards. In speaking of the Workrite set, Mr. Richards said it is noted for its tone and selectivity. In experiments he has made he says he found that stations with only a few metres' difference in wave length could be selected without interference. Absence of howling is also an important feature of the Workrite set, added Mr. Richards.

Fingerprints Called Protection On Checks

army and navy, state and federal prisons and other institutions, must surely offer possibilities that can be utilized in the commercial world.

"The credit methods used by big business firms would be greatly protected by the use of a fingerprint check on identity. Their increasing losses through fraud could at once be overcome if this method were put into operation. Railroads, express companies, insurance companies, manufacturies, mail order houses and innumerable other commercial institutions can profitably use the fingerprint method of identification and will some day do so. The use of this system by federal authorities and municipal police departments is only the forerunner of its almost universal business application."

In another interview with Sergeant Williams, to appear later in The Glendale Evening News, some of the more scientific aspects of the fingerprint method of identification will be gone into and its absolute infallibility proven.

Many theatres in London have old furnishings and some managers are installing "tip-up" seats because recently they have found it more difficult to sell the uncomfortable seats in the pit rather than those in the stalls.

HUBBY WILL LEARN HOW TO COOK

Schools for Males Formed In East; Sewing Class Looms on Horizon

By EDNA MARSHALL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Fricasseed, roasted and broiled meats, vegetables fixed in complicated styles and deserts de luxe are all written in bold, white letters upon the slate of what a husband shall learn to do within the coming year.

Brooklyn women are seeing to that by having achieved the promise of a cooking school for errant males. New York members of the fair sex are going soon to follow suit and it is whispered that domestic realms in Chicago, New Haven and Denver will swing into line by Christmas.

The supposedly modern era when man took over his share of the household duties with a rubber apron and dish towel after dinner in the evenings has passed into antiquity, with the time when woman's job was at the kitchen stove and man's at the office desk.

It's "Preparedness"

Now a new version of the "preparedness" theory is being developed. In case the lady of the house should have a card party in the afternoon that might keep her late away from home, or a long shopping trip, or a headache, or should want to make a journey into distant lands, leaving behind spouse and children—it is as well for hubby to know how to prepare a tasty meal. And if the lady has a place in the business world, as well, they should take turns at domestic duties.

Housewives of Brooklyn approached the American Gas association with their idea and it was labelled "excellent."

Then the same guardians of the home approached the male and prospective half of the family. Perhaps more hesitantly the hunch was approved, too.

Men Join Class

Already more than 100 men have been listed for the classes to start directly after Christmas—if the present scheme works out. Applications—forced or voluntary—are coming in daily, and a woman, Miss Helen Wetherell, has been appointed to teach the husbands how to cook.

Manhattan is waiting curiously to see the results in Brooklyn.

If they're good, she promises to follow suit.

It is not enough, the complaining wives who initiated the movement against the peace of husbands averred, for a man to be able to boil an egg or stew a piece of lamb. It is not enough to make a good cup of coffee or a piece of toast. There is no reason why a husband should not be able to bake bread, make shoe string potatoes and crisp pie.

"And equal division of labor," is their cry—and they point out that, while a man spends eight hours at his office, a woman's day lasts from 6 or 7 in the morning, when she rises to get the children ready for school, until after that time at night when they are finally tucked into their beds.

Sewing Schools Next?

Homes will be happier if the job of keeping things smoothly running is shared by two, they contend, for it is a pleasure to work with someone at what is drudgery when done alone. Bitterness will be less likely to rise in the heart of the young wife, if her husband shares her long hours of toil.

The idea has taken particularly with prospective wives—and the registrations so far made are composed at least half of prospective husbands.

After cooking will come sewing schools, it is said, so that the husbands can take care of their own and the children's clothes in case necessity or the vagaries of fancy should take the lady of the house away from her job at the sewing box.

Challenge to Bigotry Issued at K. C. Meet

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 17.—"Perhaps I have heard that it is a terrible thing to be a member of the Knights of Columbus. Perhaps you have heard that it is a terrible thing to be a member of the Masons. Perhaps we both are right. But the fact remains that not one of us knows whether he is right in his beliefs and the sooner we get rid of these ideas the better the world will be."

With this challenge to bigotry by Supreme Court Justice Jerome L. Cheney, ringing in their ears, more than 2000 members of Syracuse fraternal organizations are going about their tasks with a better understanding of each other—and each other's problems.

It was delivered by Justice Cheney at one of the greatest demonstrations ever staged in this city, at the Knights of Columbus headquarters.

FASHION DISPLAY SHOWS CHIC HATS

Paris Creations Featured At T. D. & L. Theatre By Local Shops

Paris hats rivaling in chicness gowns of New York creation; Paris gowns vying in color with New York hats, all set off by the latest in furs, marked the mid-winter fashion show at the T. D. & L. theatre, which closed a two-day showing Saturday night. Beautiful gowns, hats, coats and shawls were furnished through the courtesy of the Melba-Jeanne ready-to-wear shop and Marion-Elizabeth hat shoppe, Palace Grand arcade. Glendale's mannequins were: Mabel Welch, Martha Carpenter, Helen Welch, Ethel Pels, Helen Fisher, Lucy Welch, Mrs. L. Rike and Dr. Harriet Hillings. Miss Wavel Compton, pupil of Miss Bernice Sibeck, opened the revue with a dance number.

Chic Paris Model

One of the most elaborate gowns was a Paris model of turquoise, heavily beaded in crystal, decollete, with diamond shaped hem, worn by Mrs. Rike. Elaborate trimmings of fur, ostrich and maribou were noted. The ensembles both in silk and wool are the vogue. Hats of brown and black satin fitting snugly on the head harmonized with each gown.

One of the hats attracting considerable attention was a silver and black creation, and today Mrs. Grace G. McCleery, owner of the Marion-Elizabeth shoppe, received a half dozen telephone calls concerning the hat. For evening wear silver and gold turbans and lace hats were displayed as fashion's latest decree. Over $10,000 worth of furs were exhibited by D. Bonoff, 807 South Hill street, Los Angeles.

Sojourning Masons In Another Sunday Meet

Another meeting of sojourning Masons of Glendale and vicinity was held yesterday afternoon at the Masonic temple on South Brand boulevard. Nothing more definite than already reported was done, several more names being added to the conditional application for a dispensation to permit forming a regular Masonic lodge made up of only sojourning Masons. Many of those seeking this privilege have been among the most active workers in their home lodges and the promoters of this new organization anticipate a revival of the Masonic spirit of fraternity in Glendale after this lodge gets fairly under way. Much enthusiasm developed at this meeting. O. M. Newby was again chosen to act as chairman until the plans approach maturity.

PETROLEUM SUPPLY IS HOLDING

Oil Industry Is Recovering From Over-Production, Prices Advancing

By J. C. ROYLE

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Ever since the Drake well was drilled near Titusville, Pa., in 1859, there has been enough petroleum in the world to supply the world's needs. At times there have been recurrent periods of slack production or over production. The oil industry is now recovering from one of the latter, and in consequence the outlook for the industry is brighter than for some time.

Production in the last few weeks has slackened. There still is a heavy surplus of oil in storage in this country and an enormous amount has been turned into gasoline and other products which remain unsold. Nevertheless, the slackening of production has been followed by repeated advances in the prices of oil and gas in various sections which, when the volume of oil in storage and under ground is considered, has added millions to the assets of the oil companies.

Always Prospect

The reason there has always been sufficient oil in prospect for the world's needs, great as they have grown, is because oil companies never cease looking and prospecting for fresh supplies. Nine billion dollars, according to A. C. McLaughlin, former head of the California State Petroleum Bureau, have been invested in the oil industry to keep pace with the remarkable demand for petroleum products. The largest factor in stimulating the demand has been the automobile, but on the other hand, the development of the automobile would have been impossible without cheap and easily available fuel.

It is an interesting fact that for each decade since 1870 the production of oil in America has been greater than the total produced in the whole life of the industry up to that decade.

To keep pace with the demand, oil forces are working all over the world. Synclinal troughs, clines and anti-clines are being investigated at the cost of millions, along with domes, structural terraces and monoclinal dips. Approximately $4,000,000,000 has been expended by the industry for drilling, lifting, bonuses and rentals since January 1, 1921.

Crude Unprofitable

Even with the tremendous output developed, crude oil has not paid expenses. Profits have had to come from the separating of crude oil into its petroleum products. It is inevitable according to Mr. McLaughlin, that flush production at times will send prices down, but these periods of depression, he says, will come less frequently in future. Of the 300,000 oil wells in the country, 250,000 produce less than a barrel of oil a day a piece and the control of flush production will tend to stabilize prices in the future.

The element of risk in prospecting work is amply illustrated by the record of last year in the mid continent field. There were 4,779 leases taken in this territory, all of which were actually drilled. Of the first wells drilled 1,959 found oil, 438 were gas wells and 2,380 dry holes or a percentage of failure of 49.8 per cent.

The flush production which has piled up heavy surplus supplies in the last two years has led incidentally to severe competition in the marketing of gasoline in some sections. There is a hard battle going on, for example, for service station retail sales on the Pacific coast. In that territory there are ninety-two brands of gasoline being offered the public and the effect was felt in a recent cut in price by some of the largest producers.

Uses Yellow Paint

One large refiner and distributor is spending thousands of dollars in a "psychology" campaign. The service stations of this company are covered with brilliant yellow paint. The company is supplying paint of the same hue to all who ask for it free on the theory that the "personality" of the paint will suggest to those who see it the thought of the oils and gasoline of the company. It is stated on excellent authority that over 100,000 gallons of this paint has been distributed gratis.

In the east, on the other hand, one large refiner has jumped the price of tank car lots of gasoline a quarter cent a gallon three times in the last two weeks. Fuel oil consumption is growing heavier, lubricants are in more demand and with over 17,000,000 automobiles in service in this country, there is small chance of a slackening in prospecting activity. There is, however, no apparent imminent danger of a dangerous increase in flush production.

Confirmation of this assessment roll by the council came after John F. HOUSE BURGLARS GET RICH HAULS

Two Glendale Homes Broken Into, Jewelry and Clothing Taken

Burglars made two rich hauls in Glendale homes Saturday night. The first residence entered was that of G. A. Davis, 1110 East Garfield avenue. Returning shortly after 8 o'clock the family heard the back door slam and scurry of feet. They found the bedroom had been ransacked and jewelry totaling several hundred dollars and an automatic pistol taken. Entrance was gained by cutting a rear screen and prying up the window.

Later Saturday night the home of I. Yelowitz at 914 South Adams street was burglarized, police believe, by the same persons, as entrance was gained by cutting a rear screen and prying up the window. The whole house was ransacked and a number of articles of clothing and pieces of jewelry stolen.

RAILS CONTINUE SOARING UPWARD

Heavy Buying Is Featured With Industrials as Close Seconds

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Railroad and industrial stocks continued their forward movement into higher levels today. The rails were featured by heavy buying in all departments and initiated the rally which spread to the whole market, with the exception of the oils. Special demonstrations took place in a number of the specialty stocks, some of them new additions to the active list, and prices were pushed forward vigorously for gains of from 3 to 10 points.

While profit-taking was in progress in some parts of the list, notably the oils, the shorts were being pushed in high priced stocks which have covered considerable ground in recent sessions, accumulating short covering and much of the buying in Mack Trucks was attributed to the same cause. The bears were not able to depress American Can, though offerings were fairly heavy.

Few Rails Offered

Heavy accumulation of railroad stocks has reduced the market supply and buying orders today found little stock offered. It required only a small volume of selling to send New York Central to a new high at 117 3-4; Union Pacific up 2 points to 146 3-4; Southern Pacific up one to 102 1-2; New Haven to above 29 and Wabash preferred A a net high 54 1-4, on exceedingly active trading.

Trading was very heavy in the first two hours, the result of a large accumulation of buying orders from out of town points. There was further switching from industrial to railroad stocks, but many of the active independent steels, motor, equipment and specialty stocks were also favored in the process. Industrial conditions were reported as favorable, money easy and commodity prices hardening.

Junior Republic Boys Picked Up In Glendale

Basil Casey, 15, and Ralph Neindorff, 16, who ran away from the California Junior Republic school at Chino, were picked up in Glendale Saturday night and are being held at police headquarters. Chief John D. Fraser of the Glendale police department wired Chief Dan Cox of the Richmond police department and received a wire advising the father of the Casey boy wants him returned. Both boys probably will be returned to the Chino school.

MANY AT OPENING OF DOLLAR STORE

First Establishment of Kind On Pacific Coast Is Located In City

"Gratifying, indeed, was the reception given us Saturday upon the occasion of the opening of our Glendale store," said T. A. Milne, manager of Merrill's Dollar store, 112 West Broadway, "and it taxed our efforts to properly care for the huge crowd that jammed the store all day."

Glendalians were particularly interested in the Merrill store as it is the first of its kind on the Pacific coast, no article exceeding $1 in price; in fact, there are only four prices, 25 cents, 50 cents, 75 cents and $1. Two more stores of the chain will be opened the first of the year in cities yet to be selected. The Christmas display attracted considerable attention as did also the showing of imported ladies' apparel and novelties, while many comments were made on the complete stocks in the children's department.

Resents Resolution Passed by G.A.R. Post

Editor, The Evening News:—Most surprising and regrettable is the waving of the "bloody shirt" again by the members of the N. P. Banks post of the Grand Army of the Republic. To an unprejudiced mind their action on Friday last is inexcusable, and, in the interest of good citizenship, must not be condoned. Such vile slander can be prompted only by bitter hatred and jealousy. The world today, except, perhaps, the members of the local post, accepts and shares General Grant's exalted opinion of General Robert E. Lee as expressed at Appomatox over fifty-nine years ago. On that memorable occasion two truly great men met—the conqueror and the conquered, and the long, bitter struggle came to an end. Recognizing in General Lee only sincerity and honor, the great and manly General Grant, clasping the hand of his erstwhile enemy, refused to accept his sword, and by that gracious act gained for himself the plaudits and approval of an admiring world.

Do not the members of the local post realize that, while they are thus engaged in their vile denunciations of three recognized dead heroes, they are at the same time besmirching the act and good name of General Grant? Are they so blinded by bitter hatred they cannot see that a slap in the mouths of Jeff Davis, Robert E. Lee and Stonewall Jackson with their right hand means a slap in the mouths of General Grant and President Lincoln with their left hand? What do our local Grand Army men think of President McKinley for seeking and accepting the services of General Joe Wheeler during the Spanish-American war? Was General Wheeler a traitor? Yes, if Davis, Lee and Jackson were traitors, for he cherished and fought for the same cause.

All credit should be given to our old soldiers for responding to duty as they saw it, and for every heroic and gallant deed performed by them during the war, but at this late day, when no necessity exists for it, such expressions of venom and jealousy are unworthy a true soldier. There is not a lecturer living who, in teaching good citizenship, would hold up to young men as a good example for them to follow, the sentiment expressed in the resolutions of the local post on Friday.

On February 12, 1907, a friend of mine, who was at that time, and is today, an active member of the N. P. Banks post, wrote me a letter, and it contains these beautiful words: "Had I lived in the southland, where you had your birth and rearing, I suppose, in all probability, I would have been on the other side. Those awful days are gone forever, and we are one people, under one flag, with one supreme desire, to be good citizens of this grand land, where there is no south, no north, no east, no west, but one great country for God and humanity."

What a contrast between that letter and the resolutions adopted by the local post! In my humble judgment, the "bloody shirt" should never be waved again, and the "hatchet" should remain buried.

COMEDY-DRAMA IS ENJOYED BY MANY

'Adam and Eva', Given By Dobinson Players, Is Proving Popular

Good, clean, wholesome comedy-drama is always popular with the play-going public, and when that comedy is Bolton and Middleton's mirth-provoking "Adam and Eva," as clever a Broadway success as ever written by modern pen, it is easily understood why the merry crowds are thronging the performances of the Dobinson Players of Glendale at the Club Playhouse, Central avenue at Lexington avenue.

The increasing popularity of these players is becoming more and more evident. George C. Pearce, veteran of stage and screen, directs the players and takes the role of James King, father of a family of wasters and social parasites, who "woof" when he waves his check book. He is exceptionally well cast and his subtle interpretation registers well with the playgoers.

In Title Roles

The title roles of Eva, his vivacious daughter, and Adam Smith, his efficient business manager and father "in loco parentis" who reforms the family from lounge lizards to busy bees, are exceptionally well portrayed by Mary Isabelle Alpaugh and William H. Stephens.

Carroll Nye as Uncle Horace, the family grouch and waspish celibate, gives a very convincing portrayal which marks this young actor's versatility in drawing characterizations when compared to his Gilly in "Turn to the Right." Arthur Lovejoy plays the elongated Scot, Lord Andrew Gordon with ease and humor. Gertrude Rothe and Richard Emlers as the turtle doves of the play, afford many moments of amusement, making their roles stand out. Thyra Ruhland and Eldon Bullis adequately fill the difficult roles of Corinthia and Dr. Delamater.

AT LA CRESCENTA

LA CRESCENTA, Nov. 17.—Mark S. Collins, prominent business man of the La Crescenta valley, will give the local Girl Scouts organization $50 for their general fund, providing residents of the valley raise a like sum for the patrol, he said today. For the past two years, under leadership of Captain Jessie Hansen, the Girl Scouts have been depending upon their own efforts for their maintenance. Now there are thirty-two members. Provision must be made for the coming summer camping trip and to defray other expenses the patrol must incur from time to time. Much interest was taken in presentation of the merit badges at the Court of Honor, held Friday evening, resulting in Mr. Collins' generous offer. Anyone desirous of helping the Girl Scouts is asked to get in touch with Captain Jessie Hansen at her home on the corner of East Piedmont and Pleasure way. At present the local Girl Scouts need to raise $20 as their share toward the national home in Washington, D. C., but cannot solicit funds or sell tickets for any entertainment they may give.

Miss Helen Haskins of Del Mar road entertained a group of young high school friends with an informal party the other evening, including Virna Brazelton, Mildred Maranville, Ruth Reynolds, Laura Kennedy, Paul McOsker, Frank Hopkins, Kenneth Wesson, James Miller and Gregg Haskins. After games and dancing, refreshments were served.

Excellent music is promised by the committee on arrangements for the dance to be given on Friday evening of this week by the Woman's club of La Crescenta valley. Fletcher's orchestra of four pieces will play the latest in dance music. Refreshments will be served by Mesdames O. C. Miller, H. H. Carpenter and A. W. Brown. The affair will be held at La Crescenta school auditorium.

Mrs. Margaret Anderson and daughter, Jane Ellen, spent the week-end visiting in Orange.

On Thursday afternoon Mrs. Elizabeth Wattel will hold a meeting of the members of the Sunday school of St. Luke's of the Mountains, when they will prepare missionary boxes for Christmas time. The meeting will be after school hours and Deaconess Grebe of the diocese of Los Angeles will direct the work. Mrs. Wattell lives at 165 West Montrose avenue.

Ministerial Body to Meet Tuesday Morning

Anticipating a union revival and evangelistic campaign in January, Glendale ministers are called to a special meeting of the Ministerial association at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning at the Central Christian church. The revival will be conducted by John Brown, evangelist. Rev. W. E. Edmonds, president of the association, will preside at the meeting tomorrow morning.

The special feature will be "Thanksgiving Stories," by Mrs. J. B. Rhodes. The Thanksgiving motif will be carried out through the program, and Thanksgiving souvenirs will be given the children.

The public is extended a cordial invitation to attend the program tonight. Following is the program: "Thanksgiving," Isabel Jones; "Harry's Dog," Buddy Cleghorn; Scarf dance, Dorothy Cleghorn; "The Moo Cow Moo," Barbara Miller; "Getting Acquainted," Katherine Farnham; "The Elf and the Doormouse," Jane Miller; "Thanksgiving Day," Helen Higginbotham; "The Best Beauty," Carman Colquhon; Egyptian dance, Mary Margaret Davies; "Thanksgiving Feast," Austin Worchester; "My Shadow," Winifred Melzer; "Thanksgiving Song Without Words," Martha Lee Phillips; Military dance, Buddy Cleghorn; "The Bite," Marjorie Osborne; "Mr. Nobody," Carter Circle; Spanish dance, Katherine Farnham and Mary Margaret Davies; "Thanksgiving Memory," Evelyn Peebles; "Gratitude," Mrs. Uhlenbrock, and Thanksgiving stories, Mrs. J. 'MISSING LINK' IS EXPLORER'S FIND

Dutchman Finds Ape-Man He Says Tallies With Scientists' Idea

LONDON, Nov. 17.—That the "missing link" of the human race, the dream of all biologists, is alive, and that he exists in the Dutch East Indies, is the startling assertion of J. Van Herwaaden, prominent Dutch explorer.

Van Herwaaden said he encountered one of these creatures while hunting on Poeloe Rimau island, situated in the southernmost part of Sumatra, last fall.

Description Tallies

Description of the ape-man, as given by Van Herwaaden, so closely tallies with that which scientists would necessarily expect the ape-man to follow, that many learned scientific institutions have decided to send expeditions to the Dutch East Indies to try and find further evidences of the tribe.

Government of the Dutch East Indies is also contemplating sending a party to the island with the same object.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, was a cigar maker at 15 years of age.
